

Deny India Peace Talk Role

Take it from Here

While it's probably the opinion of American males that they escort the best-dressed women in the world, that necessarily would not be the attitude of French women.

Quite the contrary, in Paris, long-reputed as the fashion center of the world, American women are not considered best-dressed. They are described as "over-dressed."

I would like to take this moment, men, to caution against any misunderstanding of that term. It was not meant to imply that American women should wear fewer garments.

Although there are those among us who would heartily applaud such a suggestion, that is not the idea one should infer.

By "over-dressed," it is meant that the items of clothing and accessories worn by the American female are too lavish and too many, according to French standards of what well-dressed women should wear.

This information was gathered in an interview with Mrs. Kenneth Abbott, 28, of 921 Mary av., who recently returned from a visit to Paris and Algiers.

In France, especially Paris, American women have acquired a "notorious" reputation of being spotted, as Americans, from great distances.

This is most true during the day, French women confide, "American females 'stand out' because of the amount of jewelry 'sporting' on the neck, arms, ears, and fingers."

At night, when French women add accessories to their attire, Americans don't look quite so "outlandish." But, before 5 p.m., they're easily tagged.

French women are especially annoyed with American female apparel during the morning. American women are stereotyped as wearing rings, bracelets up to the elbow, necklaces up to here, blinding earrings, and a hat smothered in feathers.

Of course, the French probably fail to take into consideration the Americans they see are tourists. Nevertheless, Parisian women contend no matter the occasion, during the day, dress should be "chic" but simple . . . a minimum of accessories.

Currently, French styles call for ballet-type slippers or comparatively low-heeled shoes, a skin-tight skirt, blouse, and, if necessary, one should wear a beret.

After 5 p.m., when French females dress to dine and dine, tastes tend towards those of Americans.

Some Parisian women react violently to American dress. They seemingly have the urge to drag tourists by the ear and make them dress "properly."

On the other hand, some French styles might cause similar reactions from the opposite side of the style fence. Doubtless, many Americans would recoil from a

Dixon Home Ransacked By Thieves

Dixon police are investigating a break-in at the home of Dr. E. F. Legner, veterinarian, 512 Galena av., sometime between 6:45 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.

According to Dixon Police Chief Frank Tyne and Officer E. T. Trotter, who investigated, burglars gained entrance to the home through a kitchen window.

Legner reported that $5 or $6 in half dollars and dimes was taken from the top drawer of a chest of drawers in the bedroom.

The thief or thieves removed the screen from the kitchen window, climbed into the house, ransacked a desk in the living room and the chest in the bedroom, police reported.

It is believed they left the house through a door on the north side of the house.

Poor collapsed after dining at a club with his wife.

It's Here!

A strange wail has just been heard coming from the Yukum cabin. It must be the baby! Despite the fact that all kinds of noises are heard in Dogpatch, there's something about a baby's first cry that even Li'l Abner can recognize.

Our correspondent hasn't been able to get a glimpse of the youngster yet. Maybe you'll have better luck peeking through the window.

And is Li'l Abner excited? Man, he can hardly wait—for his supper.

GI Captured After Fleeing Crime Scene

Attempted Robbery Ends in Death for Gov. Lausche's Aide

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—An AWOL soldier today admitted he shot and killed the assistant director of the Ohio Industrial Relations Department Wednesday night after the official had given him a ride in his car, the state highway patrol said.

Harold St. John, 25, of Dorchester, Mass., was captured by highway patrol Cpl. C. E. Wells a little over a mile from the scene of the slaying on U. S. 40 west of here.

Wells said St. John, AWOL from Camp Atterbury, Ind., since Wednesday admitted he shot Joseph W. Harding, 53, during a struggle in the car when he tried to rob the state official.

Leaves Party

Harding was killed a short time after he left a farewell party for his retiring chief, Albert A. Woldman, Gov. Frank J. Lausche was reported considering Harding as successor to Woldman, who leaves today to assume a juvenile judgeship in Chuyahoga County.

The patrol said St. John stated Harding picked him up as he hitchhiked on the outskirts of Columbus. St. John had two pistols, a .32 caliber and a .45 caliber he had stolen from a guard at a Camp Atterbury stockade Wednesday morning, he told officers.

Harding stopped the car in front of a motel about five miles west of Zanesville and shouted, "Call the cops: This guy has a gun!"

Patrolman Wells said St. John was wounded in the leg during the struggle for the gun. Harding was shot twice, once in the head and once in the abdomen.

Ray Bush, 25, a truck driver of Linden, Ind., heard the struggle and the shots and saw a man flee from Harding's car. Harding's body was found hanging out the car door. The motel attendant had gone inside to phone the sheriff.

Roadblocks were set up throughout the area.

Wells, driving a patrol car, St. John coming out U. S. 40 from the brush about 5:30 a.m. (CDT) and took him into custody without resistance. St. John was carrying the .45 caliber pistol in his belt. The other gun was found in the car.

St. John is held at Zanesville police headquarters.

Mercury Hits 97 Wednesday

Dixon residents sweated in a late-summer heat wave which sent the temperature to 97 at 3 p.m. Wednesday—one of the hottest days of the year.

Sunny skies and high temperatures were in prospect again today in most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation. Not much immediate relief was in sight from the hot, dry weather.

The Midwest baked Wednesday in one of the hottest days of the summer season. Temperatures were in the 90's and soared above 100 degrees in some areas. It was 103 in Philip, S. D., hotter than in the Southwest desert region. Chadron, Neb., reported a sizzling 101.

Record readings for the date were reported in many cities, including 97 in Chicago and 96 in Milwaukee. Chicago's forecast was for 97 degree readings today and Friday. Water shortages were reported in many Chicago suburbs which receive supplies from Chicago mains. Some industrial and commercial plants halted operations Wednesday in suburban Maywood.

TAKES TROPHY IN SWINE SHOW—Gene Bothe, 16, Ashton, won the trophy for the grand champion litter over all breeds at the Lee county 4-H show in Dixon Wednesday by showing his litter of purebred Hampshire hogs. Gene also showed the grand champion gilt in the show. Gene is a member of the Swamp Aces 4-H club and is a junior in Ashton high school.

Injun Summer Days Is 'Smash Hit' With All C. of C., Farm Officials Agree It Was Top Program

The Dixon Injun Summer Days celebration closed Wednesday night with the sounds of clapping hands, skipping feet and cries of "do-si-do" ringing through the Dixon armory.

About 500 persons attended the final event of the 1953 show.

The dance followed a day of livestock judging and activity on the midway.

Restore Field

This morning crews moved onto the high school practice field to restore the field to its former condition. The chairman of the chamber of commerce celebration committee, Keith Barger, said a layer of fertilizer will be spread on the field in the next day or two. He commented, "We intend to leave the field in even better condition than we found it."

Barger said he was "tickled pink" with the outcome of the three-day event. He was lavish in his thanks to "everyone who helped make the celebration a great success."

Other chamber officials singled out the following for praise for their work: Walter Knack, decorations and parade; E. M. Greene and Mrs. Areta Gracey, concessions; Ed Mack, midway; and Charles Hale and Wayne Hershberger, square dance.

"Best" Show

Lee county farm adviser Jim Somers said he felt the event was "the best show we ever had." He pointed out that the two-day schedule allowed exhibitors and spectators a better chance to keep up with the livestock judging. He said that in previous years, with a one-day schedule, "We had kids who had to show in two or three places at once."

This year, he added, the judging schedule was "better for the kids and better for the spectators."

Somers said the extended schedule would have been impossible without the tents to shelter the animals overnight.

He expressed his appreciation to the people of Dixon and the chamber of commerce for making the event an outstanding show.

Franklin Station Ransacked

Lee County Sheriff Charles Redebaugh today investigated a break-in at the Don Gallagher Shell Service station, Franklin Grove, some time between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 7:30 a.m. today.

According to Redebaugh, the burglar gained entrance to the service station by breaking a window in the rear of the building.

Gallagher found the service station ransacked when he opened this morning and found approximately $60 to $85 worth of change and merchandise stolen.

Sterling Man Dies of Auto Crash Injuries

John Loos, Father Of Four, Succumbs; Was Plumber Here

A 44-year-old Sterling man, father of four children, died Wednesday night in KSB hospital from injuries suffered Sunday morning in an auto accident on the Rock Island road, southwest of McRobert's crossing.

John D. Loos, employed in Dixon by the Klein and Heckman plumbing and heating company, died as the result of a severed vertebrae, according to Robert Preston, Lee county coroner.

Had Loos lived, Preston added, he probably would have been completely paralyzed.

Loos was taken to the hospital following the accident in which he lost control of his car while heading into Dixon. It crashed through a farm fence, overturned several times, and came to a halt in a field 600 feet from the start of the mishap.

According to Sheriff Charles Redebaugh, who investigated, Bob Jones, Robert Rippey, and Harlan Ford, all of Rock Falls, discovered the accident.

In addition to neck injuries, he suffered severe head lacerations. Loos is survived by his widow, Lillian, four children, John, 17; Barbara Ann, 12; Betty Jo, 9, and Mary Sue, 7, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Loos, Sterling.

Airliners Crash in Air; Both Make Safe Landings

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—Two commercial air liners, carrying a total of 37 persons, collided Wednesday night at 11,000 feet, but pilots landed them safely and no one was injured.

The planes, twin-engine Convairs from American Air Lines and United Air Lines, had left Chicago about a minute apart. The collision over Michigan City, about 60 miles east, occurred about 25 minutes later. Both planes were slightly damaged.

"Lucky Situation"

"It was a very lucky situation all around," said William Whitlatch, American chief of flight operations for the Chicago region. "We have no idea who did what to whom. We don't say which plane ran the other down, but it will be the subject of an inquiry by the company and by the Civil Aeronautics Administration."

The collision ripped a three-foot hole in the tail section of the American plane while the UAL airliner was punctured on top of the fuselage between the pilot's cabin and the passenger area.

Emergency Landings

The UAL plane, carrying 37 passengers and 3 crew members and headed for Cleveland, made an emergency landing at South Bend, Ind. The American plane, with 21 passengers and 3 crewmen and bound for Detroit, returned to Chicago's Midway Airport.

Milton Krantz, a Cleveland theater owner and one of the UAL passengers, said the impact sounded like "an explosion" in front of the plane. He said a woman passenger near him took out her rosary beads and prayed.

Some passengers of the UAL plane said they had seen the other plane approaching because of clear visibility and said they could not understand how the two planes collided.

The courses of the two planes were parallel until a point near LaPorte, Ind., when the Detroit bound plane was scheduled to turn off to the north and the plane for Cleveland was to ply directly east.

U. S. Scores Victory in UN Struggle

Political Committee Recommends Seats for 16 Who Fought

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—India failed today to win sufficient U. N. support to give her a seat at the Korean peace conference.

She received a majority of the votes cast in the 60-nation political committee, but fell short of the two-thirds majority required for approval by the General Assembly which acts Friday.

The vote was 27 for, 21 against, 11 abstaining and India not participating.

Victory for U. S.

It was a victory for the United States, who had split with Britain and other Western allies over the issue and fought vigorously against India's inclusion.

The committee also:

1. Recommended seats at the conference for all the 16 countries who fought under the U. N. banner.
2. If they desire to do so. The vote was 12-7, with 10 abstaining and India not voting.
3. Rejected a Soviet proposal that the conference be made up of six belligerent countries and nine "neutrals." The vote: 5-11, with 13 abstaining and India not voting.
4. Voted to include Russia in the parley "provided the other side desires it." The vote was 35-2 with two abstaining.

Russia Fails

Russia made an unsuccessful attempt to delete the phrase limiting her up on the Communist side, but then voted for the proposal as a whole, indicating she would attend as a representative of the Communists.

U.S. Delegate Lodge also struck back at Vishinsky's charge that the United States was acting like a "master race" and was trying to force others to accept its view by ultimatums.

He pointed out that the American population was made up of many races and religions, but behind the Iron Curtain the Communists have tried to wipe out "religion, Christianity, Judaism."

Urges Silence

"The representative of the Soviet Union, when he talked about a master race in America, missed one of the Great opportunities in his life to keep quiet," Lodge said.

On the question of the Korean conference, Lodge said:

"If the Communist side does not want a peace, there won't be any. It takes two to make a peace. If they do not want a conference they can wreck it."

British Delegate Sir Gladwyn Jebb agreed with Lodge and said that, when he heard Vishinsky speak, he asked himself whether Russia actually wanted a conference.

Vishinsky denied that he had made a veiled threat about Communist participation in the peace parley. He said all he was saying was that the assembly should communicate its views to the Chinese Communists and North Korea and then consider their views.

This flurry delayed the voting temporarily.

In Collision

Considerable damage resulted today in an auto accident at Galena avenue and Everett street involving cars driven by Georgia Worsley, 1020 Idlewild dr., and John Mann, 321 E. Third st.

According to Dixon Police Officer E. T. Trotter, who investigated, no one was injured, but there was considerable damage to the Mann vehicle.

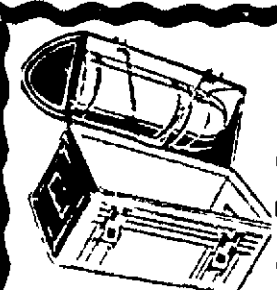

Trotter reported the Worsley car was making a left turn off Galena avenue at Everett street when it halted for an oncoming vehicle.

The Mann car rammed the rear of the Worsley vehicle. Both vehicles were headed south.

Those Wedding Bells Keep Ringing Out For American Airmen and British Girls

By TOM CULLEN
LONDON — (NEA) — Despite a U. S. Air Force "wet blanket," American airmen are marrying British girls at the rate of 200 a month.

In the Seventh Air Division alone, wedding bells ring for six out of every thousand single men each month, while a similar number are altar-bound in the Third Air Force.

For an Air Force GI, marrying a British girl is like running an obstacle course, with the Air Force brass setting up the hurdles.

First, he must get permission to marry from his squadron commander, whose heart may or may not be made of flint.

Then there is a four-month "cooling off" period for him to think it over. No amount of wheedling or cajoling will persuade U.S.-AF headquarters to cut the marriage red tape to less than four months.

"It's for the serviceman's own protection," explains Lt. Col. J.D. Andrew, of Skyland, N. C., staff chaplain of the Seventh Air Division.

"An airman who has been in England only two weeks comes to me and says he wants to marry a girl he picked up in Piccadilly Circus. It may or may not be the real thing, but he'll have plenty of time to decide."

Andrew's job is to test the course of true love for unexpected bumps.

"The chaplain told me that my American dream cottage might turn out to be a trailer on the edge of some God-forsaken air base," recalls Averil Rustemier, attractive 18-year-old British bride of S/Sgt. Thomas C. Rustemier, of Bancroft, Ia.

Averil said she didn't care as long as Tom was inside the trailer, and so they were married early in July. But first, here is what the sergeant had to prove:

U. S. AIRMAN AND BRITISH BRIDE: Before he could wed, Sgt. Thomas Rustemier had to furnish a lot of proof.

That he had $300 in the bank. (Until last September, a $900 surety was required before permission to marry was granted.)

That both he and his future wife were sound physically, as proven by blood tests and chest X-rays.

That Averil had no Communist or other subversive affiliations, as determined by Scotland Yard investigation.

Inasmuch as Averil is only 18, permission also had to be secured from her parents.

Very few of the marriages contracted in Britain have come unstuck, according to Andrew.

"The most trouble we have," the chaplain claims, "is with American wives who complain that their husbands are stepping out on them, and who want to be sent back to the States."

Reasons why the made-in-Britain matches are inclined to be durable are that the wife is living in her own country, while the husband enjoys all the benefits of an inflationary economy where his dollar goes much further than it would in the U. S.

To American mothers, the chaplain's comforting word is: "Your sons are marrying nice girls from good family backgrounds."

To the girl he left behind in Dubuque, the news is: the chances of Johnny marching home single are mighty slim.

U. S. Will Seek Changes In United Nations Charter

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States probably will eventually seek changes in the United Nations Charter which would give more power to the General Assembly and cut down Russia's ability to prevent action on critical issues.

This was indicated by Secretary of State Dulles Wednesday in a speech before the American Bar Association at Boston.

Calling it "obsolete," Dulles told the nation's lawyers they will have a "conspicuous opportunity" for service in connection with a possible conference on charter revision about two years hence.

His comment was in line with the known belief in the State Department that there should be public consideration of what revisions of the U. N. Charter would be in the American interest.

The present charter, Dulles said, was made "obsolete" by the atomic bomb.

Had the delegates at the San Francisco U. N. conference in early 1945 known of the "mysterious and immeasurable power of the atom," he said, the charter provisions dealing with disarmament and arms regulations "would have been far more emphatic and realistic."

Each Has Veto

The charter gave the Security Council responsibility for formulating plans for establishment of a system for arms regulation. Each of the powers in the Security Council — the United States, Britain, Russia, France and Nationalist China — has a veto.

"We now see the inadequacy," Dulles said, "of an organization whose effective functioning depends upon cooperation with a nation which is dominated by an international party seeking world domination."

Lightning Ball Frightens Tots In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Weather Bureau said a phenomenon which scared several people here Wednesday was apparently ball lightning, described in the dictionary as "extremely rare."

Witnesses agreed it was six feet above the ground, about the size of a watermelon, round, glowed like fire, and then exploded with a blast that sent sparks flying above the heads of several terrified children.

This happened just above a bush in the driveway of Mrs. Everett Rainhill, witnesses said. Pam and Debbie French, 7 and 5, Gayle Rainhill, 8, and Leonard Dobrowski, 8, ran to their nearby homes, unnerfed. Their mothers were among those who saw the ball.

Vanishing Tuna

OTTAWA — (AP) — The mystery of the missing tuna off Canada's west coast still has fisheries officials puzzled after three years. First there were plenty of tuna; then there were none.

In 1939, tuna of the albacore variety, a streamlined fish weighing from 10 to 20 pounds, moved into British Columbia waters for the first time in history. There were not many at the start and the war curtailed commercial possibilities. However, from 1941 on the catch increased and during the 1945-1950 peak period, 6,500,000 pounds were landed with a value of $1,500,000.

Then the fish began to vanish. The 1951 catch was a mere 130,000 pounds worth $33,000.

Brakes Fail, Big Plane Is Dunked

SEATTLE (AP) — The brakes on a four-engine coast guard B17 rescue plane failed Wednesday and the plane plunged off the Sand Point Naval Air station runway into 50 feet of water in Lake Washington. The five men aboard dived from the plane and swam to a life raft.

Carpenters Suing for Union Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—A two-week-old secession of the powerful Carpenter's Union from the AFL may soon come to an end now that William (Big Bill) Hutchison, long the union's top man, is suing for peace.

It was learned that Hutchison already has conferred with AFL President George Meany about bringing the $22,000-member union back into the AFL fold, perhaps before the AFL's annual convention opens in St. Louis Sept. 21.

Committees representing the carpenters and the AFL's Executive Council also are scheduled to confer within two weeks. Meanwhile, the 69-year-old Hutchison, one of the AFL's patriarchy, has reportedly called his union's leaders to his Indianapolis headquarters for talks.

Bill's son Maurice, who became

Carpenters Union president early last year, suddenly pulled the union out of the AFL at the AFL Executive Council's meeting in Chicago two weeks ago.

The secession was a protest against the AFL agreeing to a "no-raiding" pact with the CIO. Maurice Hutchison said the AFL itself hadn't yet set up a system for settling disputes between its own unions.

Meany said at the time he didn't believe this was the real reason, adding that the carpenters were at the root of many of the troubles between AFL unions anyway.

BIG Bill, as first vice president of the AFL, was long reported to "run things" on the council when the late William Green was AFL president. Meany succeeded Green as AFL chief last fall.

It is reported that the elder Hutchison threatened a "walk" as he apparently often did during Green's tenure, but this time Meany, determined to have a showdown, let him do it.

Reorganization Of Tax Bureau Is Criticized

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—T. Coleman Andrews, boss of the income tax collectors, is running into criticism as he tries to practice two of President Eisenhower's precepts: more economy and less government centered in Washington.

As commissioner of internal revenue, Andrews has been cutting out jobs by the hundreds and letting field offices make decisions previously made here.

About 56,000 people work for the revenue service around the country, 5,000 of them in the main Washington office which has been hardest hit by lay-offs: 500 jobs abolished so far here, another 500 to be abolished, more to go else where.

Some members of Congress complain Andrews is not keeping them sufficiently informed on what he is doing and that in his zeal for economy and decentralization he may be overdoing it.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde (R-Md.) raised the question of uniformity in tax decisions by saying the federal tax system could be wrecked if there is not sufficient coordination between the field offices and a central point like the main office here.

Arguments on Andrews' side go like this: People outside Washington ought to be able to get answers without the delay and the expense involved in coming here for a final decision which might take as long as two years.

O. Gordon Delk, Andrews' chief deputy said the top revenue people wanted to say nothing publicly until they could sit down, perhaps in mid-September, with their congressional critics and give them an explanation.

Actually Andrews is intensifying and broadening a decentralization begun in the last days of the Truman administration after tax bureau investigations showed a need for some kind of revenue service reorganization.

Trouble Doubles for Crooner Dick Haymes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The deportation blues piled up on Crooner Dick Haymes today as he surveyed the discordant score: a second deportable charge by the government, and three subpoenas.

The harried Haymes sweated through a 5 1/2-hour preliminary hearing Wednesday at which he admitted filing an application for relief from military service during World War II as a citizen of a neutral country. He said he thought the application was only for temporary deferment and "never realized what the effect would be."

Now Fight
His attorneys said they'll fight the crooner's battle with the immigration service to the Supreme Court, if necessary.

The hearing also brought out that Haymes had a previously undisclosed marriage—his first—to Edith Harper, also a singer, in Chicago in 1939. It lasted only two or three weeks, he said.

Haymes admitted owing Uncle Sam an income tax bill but said he didn't know offhand just how much. He was told to bring in exact figures.

Before the day was over three process servers handed the singer subpoenas. In one, his second wife, Joanne Dru, says he's behind in alimony payments. The second was notification of a divorce filed by current wife Nora Eddington. The final subpoena claimed he owes a department store $415.

Came Here In 1937
Born in Argentina, Haymes came to the United States in 1937 and has not become a citizen. The government charges he was ineligible to re-enter the continental United States last June after visiting actress Rita Hayworth in Hawaii. Hollywood gossip says she will become wife No. 4.

Immigration officers contend the law forbids citizenship to any alien who has sought exemption from military service, and forbids entry into this country of any alien who can never become a citizen.

The government added a second deportable charge—that Haymes failed to notify immigration authorities of his 1933 address during January. Haymes said he gave the information on Feb. 2 after being informed he had failed to comply with the law.

Reds' H-Device Should Jolt U. S. Feeling of Complacency

Now the boast is no longer empty. The Russians have the hydrogen bomb, or a rough equivalent. And once again the United States and its friends must re-examine their strategic position in the world.

We have lost exclusive possession of a devastating device, as we did of the A-bomb before it. But it was a loss we had expected, sooner or later. For a long time we have not built our military strategy on the idea we would have an H-bomb or an A-bomb monopoly.

We have instead determined to put our reliance upon the size and effectiveness of our increasing A-bomb arsenal, and upon our two-year head start toward a similar advantage with the H-bomb. In other words, our motto is "more and better."

In the A-bomb category, where work is naturally further advanced, the United States has added greatly to its total stock. It has developed an atomic explosive considerably more powerful than those dropped on Japan. Moreover, it has devised a variety of smaller A-bombs for tactical use, as for instance the atomic artillery shell.

From the testimony of our experts, who are able to make shrewd professional guesses as to Russia's countering atomic stockpile, we are evidently far in the lead on both quality and quantity.

We have the assurance of Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission that our H-bomb effort actually reached the testing stage in 1951, a whole year before experiments had been reported previously.

These appraisals of our strength in a field that is crucial to our entire strategy are comforting. Yet it is obvious to all of us that we cannot therefore slide into complacency. Neither our great, complex industrial base nor our celebrated technical talents are automatic guarantees of continued superiority.

We have greater resources, plant capacity, and ordinary mass production know-how than the Russians. But they exact more military production from their smaller base, grinding the faces of the civilian population in a way we could not tolerate.

On the technical side, we dare not smugly assume that all genius rests with us. The A-bomb was not strictly an American product, and we didn't invent jet engines, guided missiles and radar. We need the cross-fertilization of the brains of men from many lands, or our advantage may diminish.

Furthermore, "effectiveness" in this field means more than efficiency as an explosive. It involves our ability to deliver the weapons to desired targets. That translates into planes—and bases. In the judgment of our top military men, any policy that does not include adequate numbers of bombers based within range of the prospective enemy is not a safe policy.

Russia has not surprised us with its mastery of the hydrogen device. But it has reminded us that there can be no relaxing for us, either in stiffening our home defenses or developing our power to snap back and pulverize the enemy's cities.

Look at Hand Before You Leap

By OSWALD JACOBY

South was a trifle light for the opening bid of two no-trump in today's hand. This bid usually shows 22 to 24 points, with balanced distribution and all suits well stopped. In this case South had only 21 points, but he had two tens that he hoped would make up the difference.

North properly raised to three no-trump despite the singleton. He thought that game in a minor would spade was good, and he therefore made three spades and two tricks in each of the other suits.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
North East South West
1 Diamond Pass 1 Heart 1 Spade
2 Clubs Pass
You, South, hold: Spade 7, Hearts K-Q-7-3-2, Diamonds K-9-8-3-2, Clubs K-7. What do you do?

A—Bid four diamonds. This is the same hand as yesterday, except that the minor suits are reversed. You jump past the level of three no-trump in the suit of your choice to show your strength and your unbalanced distribution.

TODAY'S QUESTION
The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spade 7, Hearts K-Q-7-3-2, Diamonds A-9-8-3-2, Clubs K-7. What do you do?

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Behind the Screen: How anti-television movie studios will take it, I wouldn't know, out three of the 13 WAMPAS baby stars who will be selected at the first annual dinner dance sponsored by the Hair Stylists and Make-up Artists at the Ambassador Hotel Sept. 12 will come from TV!

NBC, ABC and CBS have been asked by the powder puff and hair curler experts to select a baby star along with the movie studios in a revival of the famous WAMPAS event of Hollywood's yesterday that graduated a lot of movie dolls starring in pictures today.

The word's out that Rita Hayworth's Beckwith Corp. slipped Dick Haymes $13,000 to fight the deportation rap, but Rita herself will stay out of the fracas.

Hedy Lamar's pals in Hollywood say that she wants to direct pictures and her move to Europe is designed to get her into the Screen Directors Guild. Is there anyone, outside of Lassie and Bonzo, who doesn't want to direct?

The Eleanor Parker-Bert Friedlob chill is thawing, but not enough for a reconciliation. She permits her producer-husband to visit the kiddies and is cordial about everything.

Mary Pickford and her nephew, Sonny Chailif, aren't talking. Frances Robinson, Sonny's wife, is in Hollywood to star in a series of Screen Gems and Fireside Theater stanzas.

CHINESE BEAUTY

Jadin Wong, the Chinese beauty in the King Brothers' RKO film, "The Carnival Story," is Anna May Wong's cousin. She's wowing them in a London nitery, just as Anna May did a couple of decades ago.

Maureen O'Hara wants her hair-dresser, costume designer and makeup man to go to Africa with her for "Tangiers." Producer Bob Goldstein is groaning.

Corinne Calvet plays a 16-year-old tomboy with Jimmy Stewart and Ruth Roman in "The Far Country."

On-the-spot observers in Mexico blame the fireworks during the filming of "Hondo" on John Wayne and Director Johnny Farrow—NOT on stage new com e r Geraldine Page, who's the Duke's leading lady. They say that Geraldine's theater technique irked the two men.

Nora Eddington Flynn Haymes, not the type to wring her hands over a deportation threat to an estranged hubby, is a romantic blazer with Scott Brady. Dick Haymes' woes prompted them to keep the bonfire a secret.

ALL SMILES

Virginia Bruce is all smiles. Hubby Ali Ipar in Turkey just cabled that he will be coming to Hollywood to join her in a month. Virginia is dazzlingly beautiful as ever in the Gross-Krasne telefilm for Lux Theater, "Some thing to Live For."

It's ironic that Fox's "The Girl Next Door," which closed the book on the career of June Haver, served as a springboard for two new beauties who are headed for stardom. Playing bit roles in the film were Donna Lee Hickey, who won the May Wynne role in "The Caine Mutiny" and will be known as May Wynne professionally. The other is Jane Woster, who won the title role in TV's "Dixie Dugan" telefilm series.

PETER EDSON'S WASHINGTON NEWS NOTEBOOK

An All-Important 'NO'—St. Genevieve Medals Available for WACs

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—One of the key sections of the mutual security pact which U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles negotiated with Republic of Korea, President Syngman Rhee was the last paragraph. It says:

"There are no other agreements or understandings stated or implied resulting from these consultations other than those herein contained."

The purpose of this section, which lawyer Dulles put in, was twofold. It was to prevent criticism in the United States that some secret agreements were made with President Rhee. Also, it was to prevent President Rhee's government from claiming later on that the United States had promised other guarantees and then welched on them.

The text of this Rhee-Dulles pact was announced in Korea as soon as it was initiated by the two men for their governments. The job of making copies of the text for the press was then given to U. S. Army.

After they had been run through the duplicating machine, Assistant Secretary of State Carl W. McCordie looked one over to see if it was all right. Everything was in order up to the last paragraph. And there he found that the third word—that all-important "no" had been left out.

McCordie let out a yell. All the copies were called back and corrected by hand.

COLOMBIAN FREEDOM

The government of Colombia, South American corner republic which went through a liberal revolution last June, has been arranging a tour for a group of American newspaper correspondents to show freedom of thought in the country.

The Colombian president, Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, first commander of Colombian troops in the Korean war, seized power to end the ultra-conservative program of former President Laureano Gomez. Pinilla promised democratic elections under complete freedom and an end to government censorship.

Because Colombia had been criticized in the United States for persecution of Protestant missionaries, the visit of American newspapermen was considered a good public relations move to show the new administration practicing full civil liberties.

Then, just as the tour was being organized, President

Pinilla suspended publication of the newspaper El Siglo. Several of the correspondents decided if that was the kind of freedom of the press practiced in Colombia, they wanted no part of the trip, and cancelled out.

ST. GENEVIEVE MEDALS

For the first time since World War II, there are a number of St. Genevieve medals jingling alongside the identification "dog tags" worn by members of the Women's Army Corps.

The idea for naming a patron saint for the WAC is attributed to Capt. Louise Godeon of Milwaukee. During the early days of World War II, she took her idea to two artists who submitted several designs. From these Col. Oveta Culp Hobby—first commander of the WAC and now Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower cabinet—chose one. With the approval of Cardinal Spellman, Catholic vicar of the military forces, the medal was struck.

It was St. Genevieve who saved the city of Paris from capture by Attila the Hun. This story appealed to the Army women. The slogan of the fifth century saint was also chosen as a motto for the WAC: "That which I have promised I will do."

Pope Pius and Colonel Hobby were among the first to be presented with a medal. Following the war, the medals became almost a collector's item. In response to many requests, however, the medals were reordered this year. They are available to any WAC who wants one, through Army chaplains.

GETTING RID OF BERIA

Communist agents in Paris have gone on a book-buying spree, according to reports from correspondents of National Committee for a Free Europe. Object of the drive has been to buy up all existing copies of three works. They are "History of the October Revolution," in three volumes, "Minutes of the 19th Congress of the Communist Party in Russia, November, 1952," and volume five of the "Great Soviet Encyclopedia."

The reason of this search was something of a mystery until it was pointed out that all three works contained articles by or about Lavrenti Beria. The Soviet encyclopedia, for instance, contained a long biography of Beria. It described him as one of the most eminent leaders of the Communist Party.

So They Say

They (Communists) are a part of America, and if their ideas are different, they have a right to them, which is unquestioned, or it is not America.

—President Eisenhower.

The whole belief that we have to have war to have prosperity is so utterly fallacious, that it shouldn't even need an argument.

—Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks.

It is a mockery of those who gave their lives in Korea that no nation, including our own, has had the courage to also name the Soviet Union as an accomplice of the aggressors.

One Who Analyzes Her Marriage Is Wise Wife

It is a wise wife who on every wedding anniversary looks back over the past year to see what has happened to her marriage during the past 12 months. It won't have stood still—so the thing to determine is whether it is more, or less rewarding than it was a year ago.

Here are a few questions she might put to herself to get an idea of what has happened to her marriage in a year's time:

Have we taken steps forward along the road to success we meant to travel together? A "Yes" answer here doesn't necessarily mean the husband has had a promotion or a raise. It may mean he is handling the job he has better than he was a year ago, that he has gained in self-confidence, that he has put in time studying, or even happier in his work.

Have we put down any new roots in our community? The couple taking on new responsibilities and becoming more active in their community is moving ahead, not slipping back.

Have we done anything to make our home more livable? A comfortable home is a worthwhile goal for any married couple and anything done to make a home more comfortable is a step forward.

Have we acquired new skills during the past year? When a husband and wife both continue to learn and tackle new jobs they are growing as persons and their marriage is bound to be happier.

Have we kept up with our old friends and made a few new ones? The couple which stops making new friends is making social life narrower.

Are we working toward any definite goal?

Those are the kind of questions that show what has happened to a marriage during the past year.

What's Right?

The Doctor Says: Cook Food Thoroughly to Reduce Tapeworm Danger

By EDWIN P. JORDON, M. D.

"Please discuss worms in children," writes Mr. M. T. "I know a three-year-old child who passes worms about 12 inches long and as big around as a pencil. What causes them? What kind are they and what can you do for them?"

This is a large order requested by Mrs. T. There are many kinds of parasites, or "worms," which can become established in the digestive tract of children—and grownups too—and almost all of them are caused by swallowing the eggs, or larva, of the parasites in contaminated food.

It is, however, impossible to tell which particular kind of parasite is present in the three-year-old child to whom Mrs. T. refers, since the exact nature can only be determined by examining it with a magnifying glass of some kind or a microscope.

All of these intestinal worms are really small animals. Many, if not most of them, can live only part of their lives in a human body, and spend the rest of the time in varying forms in the ground, in the bodies of lower animals, or elsewhere.

Perhaps the most likely possibility in the child mentioned by Mrs. T. is a tapeworm, of which there are several varieties. This is likely to be somewhat flattened rather than round, but parasites of this family are widespread throughout the world and have to be considered if worms are expelled with the waste or a child is not doing well for some not-too-obvious reason.

Tapeworms enter the body in food which is contaminated and insufficiently cooked to destroy the parasites. In some cases, like that of the beef tapeworm, both the fully grown form of the parasite and the larva, or young form, can become established in the human intestinal passageways.

The tapeworm has a head which hooks onto the wall of the intestines and then grows "sections" which form a sort of tail. The particular kind of parasite can be identified by finding these sections—or the eggs—in the waste. They have characteristic and different appearances when viewed under the microscope.

DRUGS POISON WORM

So far as treatment is concerned the problem is to loosen the head and get rid of it. This involves poisoning the parasite without poisoning the person. It is a delicate job, but there are several drugs which do this fairly well though they may have to be given more than once. Sometimes one drug has to be substituted for another.

Part of the trouble which people have in ridding themselves of tapeworms undoubtedly comes from the fact that they reinfect themselves or get some parasites from other members of the household. Careful washing of the hands and sanitary methods of handling and cooking the food will reduce this danger.

Combine Meat and Vegetable For Savory, Inexpensive Loaf

SAVORY MEAT LOAF with fresh vegetables is an economy meal that's easy to cook and serve. Best served with parsleyed potatoes.

By GAYNOR MADDON
Glen Head is an old and peaceful Long Island town. There Mary Cameron was born. She's colorful, enthusiastic and a good cook. Try her recipe for a really savory and inexpensive meat loaf.

Savory Meat Loaf
(8 to 12 servings)
One and one-half tablespoons diced salt pork or bacon, 1 cup finely chopped onion, 2 pounds ground beef, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 1/2 cups crushed canned tomatoes, 1 cup 40% bran flakes.

Fry salt pork or bacon with onion until the meat is crisp and the onion is golden brown. Combine with other ingredients and mix thoroughly. Pack into 10 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour, or until done. Serve hot or cold. Garnish with parsley.

Note: If desired, add 1/2 cup drained cooked peas to the meat mixture and mix lightly.

For dessert, blueberry turnovers (the season is getting late, remember) would be about just it.

Blueberry Turnovers

One quart or 4 cups cultivated blueberries, 3/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, dash nutmeg, 1/2 lemon rind grated, 1 package pie crust mix or your own favorite pie crust recipe.

Prepare pie crust mix according to directions. Roll and cut pastry in 4 or 5-inch squares or oval shape. Place some of the filling on half of the square or oval and dot with a generous piece of butter. Fold the other half over and press edges together with a fork. Prick top and bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) until brown.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Savory meat loaf, parsleyed potatoes, buttered lima beans, enriched bread, tomato and lettuce salad, blueberry turnovers, coffee, milk.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — (AP) — Lake George, the unique self-dumping lake, has done it again.

The annual emptying of the picturesque Chugach Mountains lake is a phenomenon of the ice.

It is sealed with a barrier of ice each winter. As summer brings the big thaw, the barrier weakens gradually under the pressure of the mounting 26 miles long, 4 mile wide reservoir.

The flow builds to river proportions, ripping out chunks of weakened ice the size of a small house and tossing them along in the torrent down a mountain gorge.

This year, the breakup was nearly a month ahead of last year, due to the warm summer. The runoff raised the Knik and Matanuska rivers five feet and the rush of debris and ice threatened bridges and trestles. The lake is 50 miles north of Anchorage.

Sen. Bricker Will Press Treaty Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) served notice today he will force senate action on a proposal to limit treaty powers despite the "calamitous effect" Secretary of State Dulles said its adoption would have on world affairs.

Dulles Wednesday told the American Bar association meeting in Boston that the constitutional amendment proposed by Bricker would put congress in charge of the conduct of foreign affairs and "have a calamitous effect upon the international position and prospects of the United States."

Bricker said in an interview that Dulles "either does not understand the Constitution or he does not understand the senate resolution."

"My resolution in no way impairs the power of the President in dealing with foreign nations," the Ohio senator declared. "It would prevent the President and the senate from making domestic law by treaties."

Bricker's resolution, which has 63 other senators as co-sponsors, would provide that no treaty should override domestic law unless congress acted affirmatively. It also would give congress power to "regulate" executive international agreements.

Good Neighbors

CLARINDA, Ia. (AP)—Being "good neighbors" paid off for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shields, farmers near here. Mr. and Mrs. Shields both were suffering from tuberculosis. They had to go to a sanitarium for two years so they put their household goods and farm equipment up for sale at auction.

Auctioneers donated their services and friends and neighbors got together to push bids to levels that were amazingly high. In addition, the neighbors bought $1,100 in U.S. bonds for the Shields' two daughters, Nancy, 8, and Jo Ann, 6, who will live with their maternal grandparents.

Neighbors said the Shields long have been active in organizing "good neighbor" activity for other farm families.

The MATURE PARENT

GIVING CHILD MORAL SUPPORT MUST BE DONE THROUGH EARLY TRAINING
By MURIEL LAWRENCE

One day when Polly was eight, she did a wrong thing. Sent to the store for some stew meat, she lied about its price to her mother to keep 20 cents. With her stolen profit, she bought a ruby-studded bracelet at the dime store.

That night, she could eat little supper. Nor did she sleep well. At 6 o'clock the next morning, she awoke her mother to confess the evil deed upon her conscience.

Her mother was pleased with the confession. After Polly had agreed to repay the money from her next allowance, her mother said, "Remember, if you always tell Mother everything you do, nothing can ever harm you."

Into Polly's opened and relieved conscience, these words sank heavily and impressively. Without hesitation, she eagerly accepted the idea that her moral safety depended, not on the revealing of truth, but on another human being's knowledge of everything she did.

This idea has retarded Polly's growth in self-reliance. Though she has been married five years, she still feels compelled to tell her mother everything that troubles her.

If she feels threatened by her husband's criticism, she reaches at once for her mother's reassurance instead of seeking her moral safety in revealing the truth of her feelings to her husband.

No human being can give another moral safety. So we must not tell children we can give it to them. Their moral safety depends not upon our knowing everything they do at all, but upon their own knowledge of what they feel and the fearless ability to express it.

If they are trained in this knowledge and ability, we don't have to worry about making them tell us everything that happens to them. If something happens to them that they don't like, they can say so and deal with their problem independently.

Our motive for demanding to know everything that happens to Polly is not a pretty one.

It is a disguised attempt to control everything that happens to her. Some of us who brag loudest about the "independence" we give our teen-age children use this disguised form of control. We never realize that our curiosity about what Mary did on her date last night is not so much interest in Mary as our need to direct her impulses and action by remote control.

To examine such a need takes great courage. We deny her the right to test herself against any risk or hazard because we are afraid of them ourselves.

If we have proved our own strength, we would not doubt Mary's ability to prove her strength in the test, too.

Stage 4-H Dress Revue for Festival

Many Model Wednesday at Dixon Armory

By BEVERLY STROUSS

Congratulations to the 4-H girls of Lee County, their leaders, assistant leaders, Mrs. Marcus Gonnerman, Nachusa, County 4-H chairman, Miss June Pilgrim, Lee County Home adviser and Miss Marilyn Schiesinger, her assistant, for the outstanding clothing revue presented Wednesday afternoon. Injun summer visitors attending the revue in the Dixon armory were given a glimpse into what's new in the world of fashions and materials.

That their summer had been put to good use was shown by the well over 200 junior misses and teenagers who paraded across the stage in the garments they had made for their 4-H projects. Long hours of work and training by their skilled leaders and assistants were shown in the expert workmanship of the ensembles.

What the younger set of Lee County will be wearing to school this fall and winter was displayed by a number of the girls who had made corduroy and wool skirts with matching vests. Another popular feature for the opening days of the coming school term seemed to be full cotton skirts with matching scarves. The popular stole appeared on a number of the costumes.

Sunday Best

Sunday frocks and date dresses were in the minds of a group of the older girls as they selected faile suit and coat dresses as their project.

Mr. Weatherman was a friend yesterday to some of the young ladies and not so popular with others. For those who showed playfulness and those darning halter type and sunback dresses, times were good. Not so happy were the modelers of dusters and suits.

Lee County 4-H girls are not only talented sewers but are indeed graceful models. Pleasant smiles and perfect posture were what I noticed most as I watched the attractive young girls in Wednesday's show.

Introduced by Leaders

Each of the 19 clubs were introduced by their own leaders and as each girl in the particular club finished showing her garment she remained on stage until the entire club was finished. You knew that the revue had been well planned as the model knew just where to sit on the stage to form a pretty picture for the audience. The stage wore a fall decoration theme.

Miss Karen Vaupel was mistress of ceremonies for the revue and taking their turns to provide the perfect mood music for the models were pianists, Janet Sheffer, Margaret Laur and Marilyn Gates.

Also of interest to all visitors in the armory were the many tasty

Patricia Leggett Dons Lace to Wed Warren W. Thomas

When Miss Patricia M. Leggett, daughter of the Ira M. Leggetts, 509 South Ottawa av., became the bride of Warren W. Thomas she was wearing a white chantilly lace gown. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas, sr., Rt. 3, Dixon.

Altar vases of white gladioli, huckleberry and candelabra decorated St. Paul's Lutheran church for the 2 o'clock wedding Sunday afternoon, Aug. 23. Rev. George J. Curran officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. George Curran was nuptial organist and Miss Marian Metz, Dixon, soloist. Vocal selections included "Because" and as the couple knelt at the altar, "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the lovely bride donned a period opera length dress styled with a tiny row of buttons down the center front of the basque bodice, long fitted sleeves that tapered into points and Elizabethan collar. The net skirt with a ruffled hemline had an over skirt of chantilly lace with a scalloped hemline. The bride's french illusion veil was attached to a chantilly cloche draped with french illusion and interwoven with pearls.

Watch Is Gift
Patricia carried out the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue. Her gift from the bridegroom was a platinum wrist watch. Her flowers were an arrangement of Amazon lilies, and stephanotis with white lace leaves and satin streamers on a white Bible.

Mrs. Leo Spotts, Dixon, was matron of honor for her sister. Her minut pink confetti net opera length gown was of formal design. The dress was fashioned with a Fichu stole, basque draped bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore a large pink picture hat and carried a French colonial bouquet of pink and rose garnette roses.

David Youngmark, Dixon, served as best man and ushering were Thomas Leggett, Dixon, brother of the bride; and Leo Spotts, Dixon, her brother-in-law. The men of the bridal party wore white jackets and dark trousers.

Grandmother Attends
The bride's mother wore a wine colored suit dress with pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage. White accessories and a matching carnation corsage were worn by the bridegroom's mother with her blue dress. Mrs. Mollie Frost, Dixon, the bride's grandmother wore a navy dress and had a yellow rose corsage.

Pink gladioli and a four-tiered wedding cake were used in decorating the church parlors for the wedding reception. Miss Ruth Esbaugh, Freeport, served the coffee; Mrs. Robert Priesschat, Chicago, the punch; Miss Harriet Hugos, Minneapolis, Minn., the bride's cousin, the cake; Miss Mary Ellen Rosbrook, Dixon, had charge of the guest book and Mrs. Thomas Leggett and Mrs. Glen Ransom, Dixon, the gifts.

If there's danger of shrinking the ticking, remove it and put the pillow into a pillow case, basted closed, or a mesh bag. Use lukewarm water and one-half cup of either soap or synthetic detergent. Use no more soap than necessary, for suds penetrate to the very center of these pillows. Let them go through rinse cycle.

IN CUSTODY—Mildred McDonald, identified by police as pretty 25-year-old stenographer wanted for questioning in the bizarre pistol-rocker slaying of a 14-year-old Somerville, Mass., girl, Mary Di Rocco, is shown with Patrolman George F. Grace, who apprehended her, in a police station at New York City. Grace holds a .22 calibre pistol which police said was found in the girl's room at the YWCA. Grace said he recognized the girl from pictures he saw in an early morning newspaper. New York police said Miss McDonald signed a statement admitting the slaying of the Di Rocco girl. (AP wirephoto)

Fire Chief Warns of Grass Fires

A rubbish and grass fire Wednesday afternoon behind the Wilbur Lumber Co. on the river's south bank served as a reminder that unless Dixon residents protect themselves, the epidemic of fires last October could re-occur this fall.

Dixon Fire Chief Gail Keyser today warned that people should keep weeds and brush cut down around their homes in case dry weather should result in outbreaks of grass fires.

He said last year the fire departments were able to keep fires under control. However, that is no assurance the same situation will exist this year.

Yesterday's blaze resulted when employees of the Lumber company were burning rubbish, not realizing the surrounding grass and brush was so dry, Keyser said. There was no damage.

Chinese Shot Wounded, Says Returned GI

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea.—A freed American corporal told today how Chinese soldiers sprayed bullets into trucks of wounded men and then tossed hand grenades into the midst of the screaming men.

Cpl. Gerard A. Francois, 23, of Jersey City, N. J., said:

"There were about 20 of us guarding a convoy of wounded. There were about 300 wounded. They were stacked in trucks three deep.

"Suddenly, the Chinese overran us. We fought but they were all over us. Chinese soldiers jumped up on the backs of the trucks and sprayed burp guns into them. They were screaming and hollering and crying for their mothers and everything.

"Some Chinese soldiers climbed under the truck and sprayed bullets up to make sure they got everybody. Then they threw hand grenades into the trucks.

"I kept yelling for an officer and yelled that the men were wounded, but the Chinese wouldn't stop."

Francois was led away with 18 other men "while the wounded were still screaming and the shooting was going on."

Vandals Ruin Tires During 4-H Program

William Langley, Amboy, reported to Dixon police today that two tires on his car were punctured with an ice pick while the vehicle was parked near the midway during the 4-H Injun Summer days celebration Wednesday night.

Police also were informed that three other cars had their tires deflated while parked on Lincoln Square drive in the vicinity of the carnival.

Two more cars, on the south side of the river, were reported in similar condition.

Woman Flies Atlantic in Small Plane

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland.—Mrs. Marian Hart, 61-year-old American sportswoman, flew a single-engine sports plane non-stop across the Atlantic today in 13 1/2 hours.

It was the first direct crossing in a small, single engine plane from Newfoundland to Ireland since the pioneering days of trans-Atlantic flight.

Mrs. Hart, from New York, said she planned the flight to save the cost of taking the wings off her Beechcraft and sending it across by ship.

Heavy Cost

The project wound up costing her three times as much as it would have to ship the plane but it was worth it, she said, because "it was such a beautiful crossing in bright moonlight." She declined to say how much she spent.

She was accompanied by Wayne Vetterlein, 30, of Shawnee On Delaware, Pa., who served as co-pilot and navigator.

They covered about 2,500 miles from their takeoff at Torbay, Nfld.

Vetterlein made the trip while taking a few days off from his regular job as co-pilot with Pan American Airways.

Mrs. Hart said she would stay for a day in Shannon and then decide where to fly next. She said she might go to India or Africa.

But she denied that she intended ultimately to fly to Australia.

"I may be crazy, but not that crazy," she said.

Robber 'Victim' Admits He Shot Self With Rifle

CADIZ, Ohio.—Robert Humphrey, 41, retracted an earlier story about being wounded by a robber, and admitted shooting himself with his squirrel rifle, County Prosecutor Morris Gibby, said today.

Humphrey, a railroad brakeman who lives at nearby Holloway, first told authorities he was sleeping in his car at a roadside park and was awakened by a man who demanded money. He said the robber pulled up the rifle and shot him when he denied having any money.

The prosecutor said Humphrey changed his story after the bullet had been removed from his cheek. Deputy Sheriff Merle E. Walters said Humphrey had been drinking.

Group Insurance Plan Is Boosted For Ogle Workers

OREGON.—(Special)—All Quaker Oats employees belonging to the company's group life insurance plan learned today that their coverage was increased 50 per cent at no additional cost to them.

In announcing the more liberal terms, G. H. Simmons, manager, Oregon Central Shop, explained that it affects nine out of every 10 eligible employees. Company-wide, he added, it boosts the insurance coverage of almost 5,000 employees from some $18 million to more than $27 million.

Employees will now have insurance totaling approximately one and one-half times their annual pay. For example, an employee earning $3,000 but less than $4,000 would have his insurance raised from $1,000 to $3,000. The increase went into effect automatically on June 28 for all covered employees at work on that date.

Special arrangements have been made with the insurance company to let all eligible uninsured employees now on the job enroll in the improved plan without a medical exam. This offer will be available for a limited time only.

Brownell Says Lawyer Guild Is Subversive

BOSTON.—(Atty. Gen. Brownell today described the National Lawyers Guild as the legal mouthpiece for the Communist party and announced he proposed to put it on his list of subversive organizations.

Brownell made the announcement in an address prepared for the American Bar association, in convention here.

He said he had, earlier in the day, served notice on the guild of its proposed inclusion on the list which the government uses in checking the affiliations of federal workers in relation to their loyalty and security.

The notice means the guild has 10 days in which to ask for a hearing. If it desires to present evidence on why the organization should not go on the list.

The Brownell announcement followed adoption by the ABA house of delegates of a resolution declaring that Communists should be barred from the legal profession in this country.

Of the National Lawyers Guild, long under the fire of the house un-American activities committee, Brownell said:

"It has been clear that at least since 1946, the leadership of the guild has been in the hands of card-carrying Communists and prominent fellow travelers.

"On every major issue since then it has steadfastly followed the party line and its programs and actions have been consistent with it, excepting only those issues so notorious that their espousal would too clearly demonstrate the Communist control. It has become more and more the legal mouthpiece for the Communist party and its members, and it has consistently opposed all laws or investigations which have sought to curb or expose Communist activity in the United States."

Parents Held For Starving Baby Daughter

PEORIA, Ill.—Charges of endangering their daughter's life were brought Wednesday against the parents of a 10-month-old girl who died Saturday.

The Peoria couple John Johnson, 20, and his wife, Betty, 19, were held on $3,000 bond each to the Peoria County grand jury. Police Magistrate Charles Schofield ordered them held.

The child, Donna Johnson, died of pneumonia brought on by malnutrition, Police Lt. Stanley Mitchell reported. She weighed 10 pounds when she died in St. Francis Hospital. This was only two pounds more than her weight at birth, police said.

Mitchell said another Johnson infant died of bronchial pneumonia at the same hospital two years ago. She was 4-month-old Annie Marie. He said the couple's surviving child, 3-year-old Johnnie, has been taken to the Peoria Children's Home. He was found to be suffering from malnutrition.

Police seized the couple Tuesday on complaints of neighbors. Mitchell said Johnson is unemployed.

More Bombers Make Non-Stop Hop to Japan

TOKYO.—A second flight of B36 intercontinental bombers, 10-engine planes capable of carrying atomic bomb on flights up to 10,000 miles, will arrive in Japan Friday from the United States, the Far East Command said tonight.

An undisclosed number landed Tuesday after a nonstop trip from U. S. bases that was cloaked in military secrecy.

Tonight's announcement said: "The Japan landing by the huge B36s is part of the transpacific training exercise being carried out by the Strategic Air Command."

President Ike Congratulates Shah of Iran

DENVER.—President Eisenhower has in effect congratulated Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran on the royalist overthrow of the government of Deposed Prime Minister Mossadegh.

The summer White House today made public an Eisenhower message to the Shah which took no note of the young Iranian Shah's bid for financial aid from any government—Russia included—willing to contribute. But it was phrased in terms which did nothing to rule out the possibility of United States aid.

The President's message said: "In the spirit of friendship which has always been the basis for the relations of our two countries, I offer you my sincere congratulations on the occasion of your happy return (from exile) to your country and my continuing good wishes for every success in your efforts to promote the prosperity of your people and to preserve the independence of Iran."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the message was sent to the Shah "several days ago."

OREGON.—(Special)—Ernest Kolb, Rockford, was fined $100 and costs today in Ogle county court after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Kolb was arraigned before Judge Grover Gehant, Lee county, on the bench during the absence of Ogle County Judge Helen Rutkowski.

Kolb was arrested Monday night by Ogle county authorities. His driver's license was sent to the Illinois secretary of state who will determine whether or not it should be revoked.

Daysville Grocery Entered

OREGON.—(Special)—Ogle county authorities today are investigating a break-in at the Lundstrom grocery store, Daysville, sometime between midnight and 4:30 a.m. today.

According to Ogle County Sheriff James White, about $75 worth of merchandise was missing from the store. Discovery of the burglary was made by a breadman delivering bakery goods.

Entrance was gained to the store by prying a panel in the front door, White said.

French female wearing a platinum blond streak in her hair.

That seems to be the trend currently in Paris and especially in French-dominated parts of North Africa, mainly Algiers, says Mrs. Abbott.

And, it's not beyond conjecture that most American women would frown on Bikini bathing suits, so popular in France and along the Mediterranean coast.

From that viewpoint, the French argument against overdrinking would be carried to the opposite extreme, American females might retort.

Opinions expressed in this article are not necessarily those of this writer and any similarity to attitudes of husbands is purely coincidental.

Prof, Accused As Communist, Resumes Post

TROY, N. Y.—Dr. Jerome Mayo Greenberg, freed last month of a charge he had stated falsely that he never had been a Communist, will return to his post at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in September.

Dr. Livingston W. Houston, president of the institute, announced today that Greenberg would resume his duties as an assistant professor of physics.

Greenberg, 31, was indicted last Dec. 30 in Richmond, Va., on a perjury charge. The indictment said he had sworn to the FBI in 1945 that he never had been a member of the Communist party.

Judge Sterling Hutcheson of Federal District Court in Richmond threw out the indictment July 23. The judge held that the three-year statute of limitations applied to the case.

At the time Greenberg was alleged to have made his statement to the FBI, he was employed by the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics at Langley Field, Va. The government charged that he was a member of the Communist party in Baltimore in 1943.

He has been on leave from RPI since last January.

Houston, in announcing Greenberg would return, said:

"The institute has conducted its own investigation of Dr. Greenberg's fitness to teach. In view of the results of this investigation and the action of the court and the government, Dr. Greenberg will resume teaching duties in September. His present contract has two years to run."

Shot in Head, Drives Four Miles for Aid

CADIZ, Ohio.—Robert Humphrey, 41, of nearby Holloway drove three miles for help Wednesday after a frustrated robber shot him in the head.

Humphrey told police he was awakened in his car at a roadside park by a man who demanded his money. When he said he had none, the man grabbed Humphrey's rifle from the seat and shot him. Humphrey said he had been hunting squirrels.

Dr. Charles Lee of Bridgeport, Ohio, said a difficult operation would be needed to remove the .22-caliber bullet from below Humphrey's right temple.

Judge Bracken Gives Views In Child Custody Cases

He Eliminates Time Schedules For Visitation With Parents

Circuit Court Judge Robert Bracken, Lee county, said today he would never again place restrictive controls on a minor child, in custody cases, regarding visitation periods with the child's divorced parents.

This was made clear this morning when Judge Bracken awarded the custody of David Kaecher, 12, formerly of Ashton, to his mother, Mrs. Charlotte Kaecher, Rockford.

In presenting his decision, the court established no rigid visitation periods by which the youth's father, Kenneth Kaecher, Grand Detour, could have his son visit him.

Arrange Own Visits

Judge Bracken indicated that it was high time parents were able to arrange mutually agreeable times whereby minor children, victims of divorce, could visit parents.

In commenting on the entire subject of custody cases coming into the courts, Judge Bracken said:

"The guiding principle in determining the issue as to who shall have the custody of a child, and the superior consideration, to be kept in mind and always considered by the court, is the child's welfare.

"The rights of neither parent should be disregarded, nor are they ever, but it is the child who should be considered, superior to the claims of either parent and even sometimes to the wishes of the child.

"It has always seemed to me that if the parents of the child honestly had the welfare of the child in mind, there would seldom, if ever, be a hearing in any court with reference to the custody.

"It seems almost impossible to believe that the parents, who have failed in their own obligations, or they would not be before the court, seldom seem to realize that the continuous wrangling over who shall have the custody, can have but one effect, a bad one, on the child.

"In my opinion there should never be an order providing that on a certain day at a certain hour, the mother or the father, as the case may be, shall have the custody of a child for some stated interval with the direction to return the child from the place from which it had been taken.

Confuses Child

"This time element hangs over the head of the confused child and he is forced to go and spend time where he may not even want to go; and seldom, if ever, does any good ever come out of such an occurrence.

"If the father and mother were really sincere about the child, instead of fighting with each other, they would, of course, permit the child to visit with the parent who does not have the custody, on occasions which are convenient. All this they could settle between themselves, if they would.

"There never was, nor will be, any rule of any court, which will settle the future or add to the peace of mind of some confused child whose own father and mother were unable to settle the matter between themselves.

"It is always my wishful thought that sometime some father and mother would stand up in this court and say that they did not need or want any hard and fast rule as to when each might see the child, and that they would make every effort to always keep in mind that it was the welfare of the child, rather than their own personal likes or dislikes which they wanted the court to consider."

Mother Takes Son for Swim, Drowns in Lake

HAMMOND, Ind. (U.P.)—Charles Sedgwich, 12, drowned in Lake Michigan Wednesday while on an outing from the Lincoln Colony Boys School at Lincoln, Ill.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Helen Sedgwich, 639 West 64th st., Chicago, told police she picked up the boy at the school and planned to take him to Michigan City. Instead, she said, she took the wrong road and arrived at Hammond and decided to let her son swim at Long Beach.

Two other children swimming in four feet of water found the Sedgwich boy's floating body. Police said the body had been in the water for about three hours. Mrs. Sedgwich said she had noticed her son had been in the water for some time but was caring for her 18-month old baby and failed to report her son missing. Police released her after questioning.

Hollingsworth Outing Attracts 1,200 Persons

JOLIET, Ill. (U.P.)—More than 1,200 persons crowded into St. Joseph's park Wednesday for a day of speeches, games and picnic dinner honoring Illinois Finance Director Morton H. Hollingsworth. Hollingsworth, also GOP state chairman, refuted rumors that he would use the occasion to announce his candidacy for state treasurer. He said he did not plan to run for public office, and added, "I want to stay a part of the present team."

Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction, advised party workers to begin 1954 campaign work. The party should aim to strengthen control of congress "so that our national program can move forward more rapidly," he said.

A Relaxed Attitude on the Part of Parents Makes the School Send-Off a Happier One

By KAY SHERWOOD

First day in the first grade is the first topic of conversation in many of our homes.

The young scholar-to-be anticipates the experience with a sharp respect for the facts and fancies described by older students.

Parents ask themselves and other parents how their child will like his teacher, will he "adjust" properly to the routine, will his first step down the education road be a sure and happy one?

A round table discussion on the subject among first grade teachers at the National College of Children's School Education emphasized the need for a relaxed attitude on the part of the parents to make the school send-off a happy occasion.

Confidence is contagious, the teachers agreed. If Mother is sure Johnny is going to enjoy school, he probably will.

I asked for more specific suggestions on how we mothers can boost our babies smoothly into the larger world of school. The teachers told me not to be in a hurry to send a child under six to the all-day session of first grade.

"The five-and-a-half-year-old may be intellectually ready, but frequently he's not quite able to stand the adjustment emotionally, or physically," they said, speaking from experience.

Bugaboos during the early weeks of school are rebellion and fatigue, the schoolma'ams said. The apple

This young man stops to tie his shoelaces before entering the school building. Having been taught to do this, he will have less difficulty adjusting to the first-grade situation.

The Dixon Evening Telegraph—Dixon, Illinois Thursday, August 27, 1953 Page 11 of your eye may be having a tough time learning how to get along with 25 or 30 other youngsters.

Don't be too upset by the rebellions, but be on the alert for fatigue. Circles under the eyes, high-pitched voices, whining and crossness when he comes from school usually indicate the need for rest and refreshment.

Milk and crackers and some quieting chat or activity will relieve the tenseness of some children, say the teachers. Others may work off their tenseness better if they are allowed to run around with playmates.

Easier adjustment to school routine is possible if Johnny already has some conception of routine from home experiences.

Teachers cite the blank look when they suggest "cleaning up our room." Many kids, they think, just don't know what that means (and, I suspect, care less).

To acquaint him with this art of getting along with schoolmates, it may be well to insist he pick up his toys at home, that he takes turns talking at the dinner table, and to encourage a more open-handed sharing of materials.

Another very specific suggestion is to make sure your child can tie his own shoe laces. "You'd be surprised how many children forget this skill during the summer of wearing sandals and letting impatient adults tie them to hurry things up," said one teacher.

Although most first grade teachers schedule early conferences with parents, you'll be doing them and your child a real service if you brief teachers in advance of any handicap or special attention Johnny might need.

If a teacher knows the first day of school that Johnny doesn't hear or see very well, she'll move him up beside her at once, which gets him off to a better start.

Shall we visit the classroom often or not at all? These teachers welcome an occasional visit from mothers who want to observe specific teaching methods; for example, how Johnny learns to read, so that she can help him at home using the same methods.

Knetzer, Auto Fraud King, Dies Suddenly

Promoter of Wartime Swindle Drops Dead

BOZEMAN, Mont. — Robert Lee Knetzer, one-time dollar-a-day Illinois farm hand who went bankrupt in 1948 for 2½ million dollars in a spectacular cut-rate automobile sales venture, dropped dead Wednesday in a Bozeman drugstore where he had stopped for a cup of coffee.

Sheriff Charles E. Rice said Knetzer, identified from personal effects and also by a woman companion who said she was Mrs. Violet Knetzer, was returning east after a vacation trip to northwestern Montana.

Free on Bond

Knetzer was free on appeal bond under sentence of five years imprisonment and $5,000 fine since he was convicted last February of hiding cash assets—$682,000 prosecutors said he took in during the six months before his amazing automobile business set up in an alfalfa field folded.

Knetzer was accused of accepting down payments on promises to deliver during postwar car-short years. His operations in a field near Jacksonville, Ill., collapsed. Publicity resulted in customers demanding automobiles or refunds.

Coroner Rod Kippen said the cause of Knetzer's death was "acute ventricular fibrillation—a heart beating rapidly and without rhythm."

Home: St. Louis

The coroner said Knetzer's papers identified him as a lumber salesman, gave his birth date and place as Carlinville, Ill., Nov. 22, 1913, and listed his present home as St. Louis.

The Dahl funeral establishment in Bozeman said the woman who called herself Mrs. Violet Knetzer

Grant was accused of defrauding the government by drawing his marshal's salary but not fulfilling his marshal's duties while accompanying Knetzer. Knetzer was charged with conspiring with Grant to defraud the government of "full, honest and proper" services of Grant.

Former President Truman fired Grant as U. S. marshal for the Southern District of Illinois a year ago.

Sen. Ives Rebukes Those Republicans Who Protest

Must Support President or Face 'Complete Disaster,' He Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.) told complaining Republicans today that if they and the American people generally don't support the Eisenhower administration program the nation may be "faced with complete disaster."

Ives' observation was made in letters in which he is replying to Republicans dissatisfied with high taxes and critical of the administration. It followed a blast by Rep. Hugh D. Scott (R-Pa.), former GOP national chairman, against GOP "obstructionists" in congress.

Scott named Sen. Malone (R-Nev.) as one of these and Malone had this to say in reply:

"Time always determines who is right and who is wrong. I remember that Mr. Scott was a fine young man who was running the Republican party at one time. I hope he will settle down and protect the interests of his country and I think he will."

Doing Good Job
Ives, one of the early supporters of President Eisenhower for the nomination last year, said in letters to constituents he believes "the President is doing a far better job than is generally realized."

"The cost of government in our country has been turned definitely downward," the New York senator said. "Our appropriations this year amounted to almost 21 billion dollars less than they were last year."

"The fact remains that the New Deal administrations have gotten our country into a mess . . .

Will Take Time

"To solve the mess we are in will require time and, unless the American people are patient and support the administration in the efforts we are making, the nation is faced with complete disaster."

Scott said in an American magazine article that some Republicans are hampering the administration's program by "grandstand plays" and by "sniping."

Scott criticized Malone and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), as well as several house members. He said Rep. Mason (R-Ill.) insists that Eisenhower is doing a fine job but "has opposed virtually every measure on the President's legislative program."

Scott said McCarthy's opposition to the confirmation of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as ambassador to Russia and the fight of Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) against extending the excess profits tax were particularly embarrassing to the President.

Army Sergeant Says 1,700 POWs Die of Brutalities

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — An Army sergeant said Wednesday night that 1,700 American, British and Turkish prisoners died of starvation or were killed by brutal Chinese guards in the prison camp where he was held.

Sgt. Ellis C. Jackson, who survived a 326-mile death march to Prison Camp 5 in North Korea, told of being tortured because he refused to sign a statement that he believed in communism.

Jackson is here to visit an aunt. Later he'll go to Meridian, Miss., where his mother, Mrs. Mary Jackson, and 11 brothers and sisters live.

The Negro soldier said his unit was surrounded by the Chinese and captured in November 1950.

"Two hundred of the 800 American, British and Turkish soldiers who made the march to prison camp died from starvation along the way," he said in an interview with the Birmingham Post-Herald.

"Some of them were killed outright by the Chinese when they fell down from exhaustion. They were taken into the rice paddies and shot."

Jackson said that during the 32 months he was a prisoner 1,700 of his mates either were killed or died of starvation, from among the 3,700 who entered the camp in 1950.

"This was because there was no medical care and improper food," he said. "Most of them died from malnutrition."

Report 16 E. Germans Executed

BERLIN (AP) — The West German government reported today that at least 16 East Germans have been executed as leaders of the June 17 anti-Communist uprising but said that its figures were only a minimum.

A survey by the Bonn Ministry of all-German Affairs said also that three rioters had been given life terms and 161 others had been sentenced to a total of 800 years in prison by the Red tribunals.

The survey covered only "proved and documented" cases handled up to Aug. 12. The West has received reports that the Russians and their German Communist satellites have carted off several hundred additional rioters to unknown fates.

Meanwhile, West Berlin's hand-outs of free American food for hungry East Germans resumed in high gear today after an 11-day slowdown for reorganization.

Once more thousands of East Germans eluded border controls and jammed the 17 food distribution stations to get the precious parcels of lard, milk and flour.

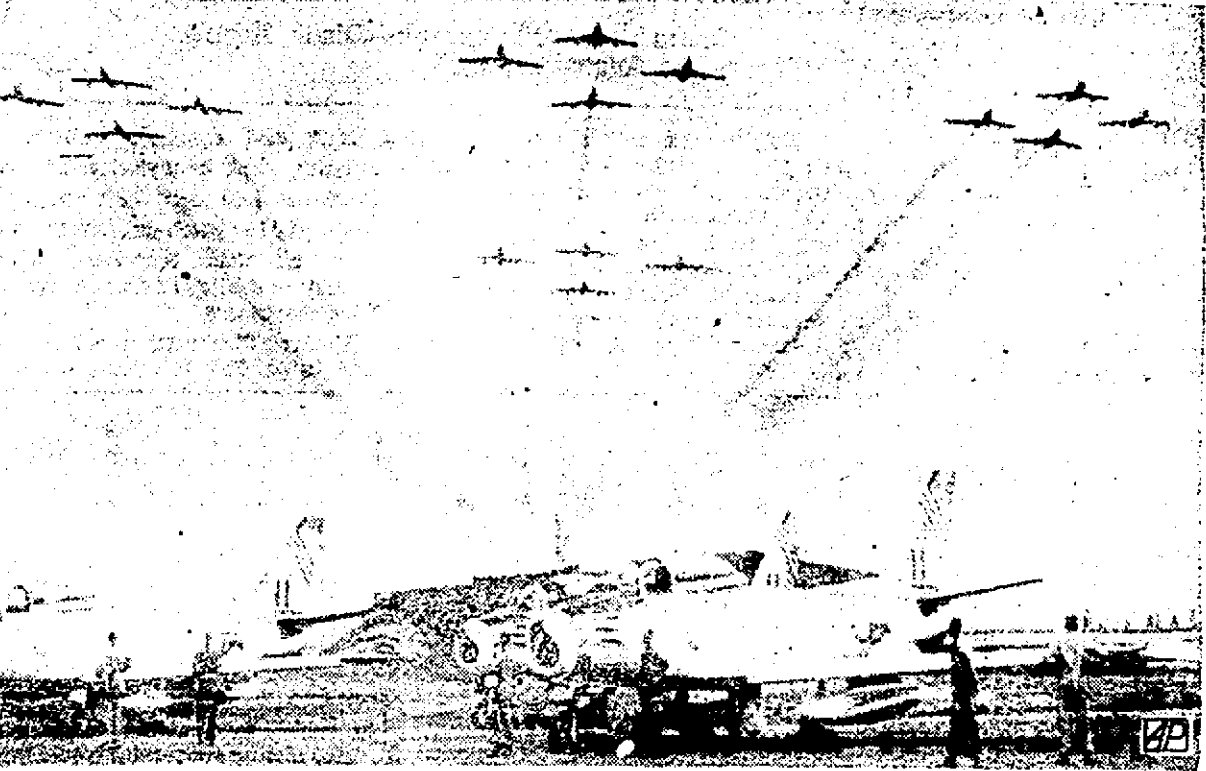

Though the packages were given out to Soviet zones from outside East Berlin during the layoff period, only some 200,000 parcels were claimed. Welfare officials believed many East Germans thought the suspension applied to everybody.

U. S. Withdraws Anti-Trust Suit Against Cement Group

BOSTON (AP) — Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanley N. Barnes said today the Justice Department is withdrawing its eight-year-old anti-trust suit against the Cement Institute and 89 institute members.

Barnes, who heads the department's Antitrust Division, made the announcement in an address prepared for the American Bar Association's section on antitrust law.

Abandonment of the litigation, he said, had been decided upon because most of the primary objectives of the suit had been attained through voluntary actions of the defendants.

The case has been pending in the federal District Court at Denver since 1945. Among other things, it asked for dissolution of the Cement Institute, which disbanded in 1946.

Further, Barnes said, industry pricing and selling practices assailed in the suit have in recent years undergone substantial changes. He asserted:

"A majority of the cement companies now sell cement f.o.b. their mills, and permit transportation by truck when requested to do so by the buyers."

"Whereas prior to 1945 there was evidence showing almost complete identity in the prices set forth in responses to most invitations to bid on government contracts, there has been very substantial improvement in this respect since that time. Similarly, the degree of uniformity in prices at which sales have been made to commercial buyers, including dealers, has materially decreased."

State Has 137 Billion Ton Coal Reserve

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the state's geological survey, said today that Illinois has a reserve of about 137 billion tons of coal.

He drew the total from a new report on minable coal reserves.

Reserves were carefully calculated for all coal beds having a thickness of 28 inches or more. Former estimates were based on a minimum of 14 inches. Hence, the current report is considered conservative.

The total reserve includes about 10½ billion tons in the proved class, 41 billion tons in the probable class and 76½ tons "inferred."

24,000 Rubber Workers Strike Firestone Firm

CLEVELAND (AP) — The CIO United Rubber Workers union struck the big Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. throughout the nation today. Negotiators failed to reach a new wage agreement before a midnight deadline.

Union and company representatives scheduled another meeting today.

The strike involves 24,000 production workers in eight cities, including 10,900 in Akron, Ohio.

First walkouts were reported at Akron, Pottstown, Pa., and Fall River, Mass. Other Firestone plants are in Los Angeles; Noblesville and Newcastle, Ind.; Memphis, Tenn.; and Des Moines, Iowa.

The union says it seeks "substantial" wage increase, better pensions, and adjustment of what it calls inequities in wage rates.

NLRB Rules That Non-Unionists Can Be Discharged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board ruled 3-2 Wednesday that a worker can be fired under a union shop contract for failing to join a union, but lesser pressure can't be applied against him.

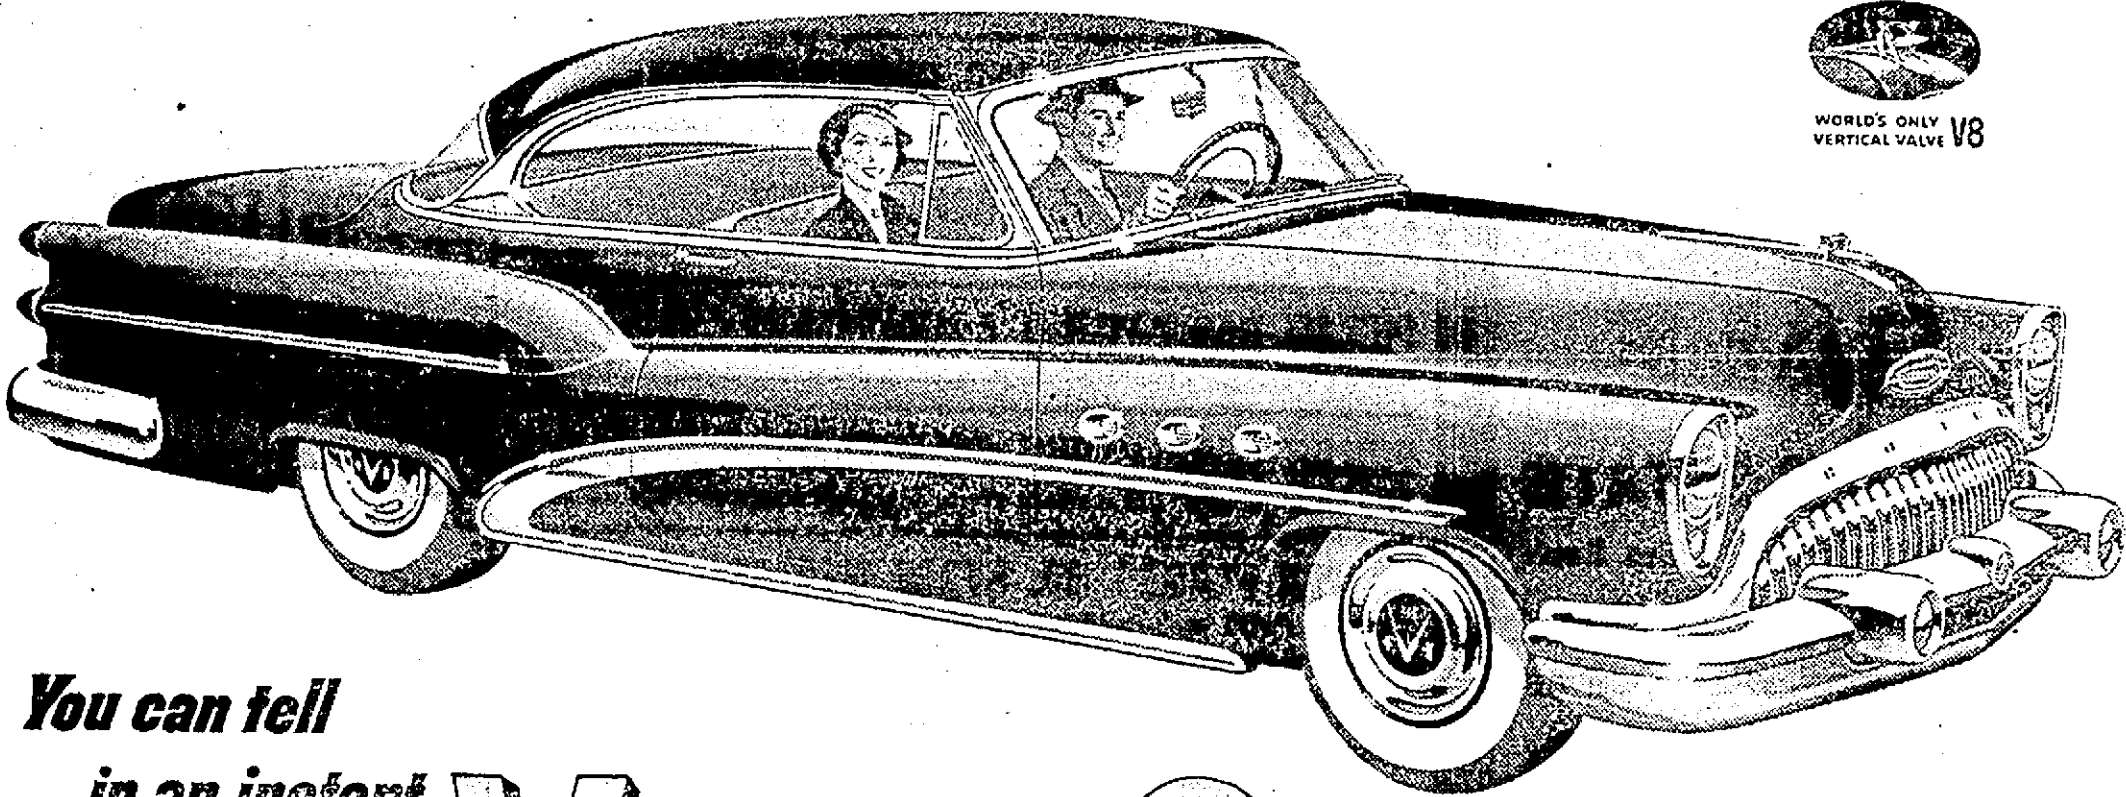

The majority decision held that it was illegal to withhold vacation pay from three employees of the Krambo Food Stores of Milwaukee, Wis., in an effort to compel them to join the union.

It said the three workers could have been fired for not joining under a legal union shop clause in the contract between the company and the Allied Independent Unions, affiliated with the Confederated Unions of America. Such a clause requires workers to join the union within a specified time, usually 30 days.

The board found that the three workers were not fired for not joining the union, but that the employer and union cooperated to withhold vacation pay due them. The NLRB's majority decided that this withholding of vacation pay was "additional discrimination, over and above the threat of discharge" and illegal.

Back to School Picture: Overcrowded, Grim

By WADE JONES
CLEVELAND — (NEA) — For thousands of American school children trooping back to classes this fall, the little red school house of an era past would be a downright luxury.

A sizeable number of the 28.7 million in public schools will be crammed into such unlikely seats of learning as old tool sheds, trailers, stores, bowling alleys, and even converted washrooms.

One out of three pupils will be in buildings rated not even "acceptable" as to fire safety. One out of six will risk their lives in structures not meeting "minimum" fire safety conditions.

Because of the lack of schools, such as they are, many children will have to go to classes part-time. There won't be enough qualified teachers to go around.

What has caused this situation and what is being done to remedy it? To get the answers NEA conducted its own survey in representative cities throughout the country and consulted the U. S. Office of Education in Washington.

One of the most striking findings is that in big cities people are actually moving away from the schools. This singular situation is the result of the big population movement, in recent years, from the center of cities to suburbs.

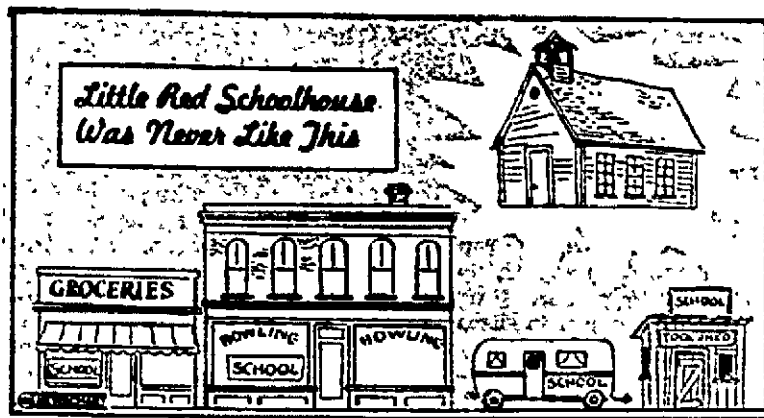

It has had the effect, in some cases, of creating empty schoolrooms in the middle of town and hopeless overcrowding in suburbs, where school building just hasn't been able to keep up with home building.

In northeast Johnson county, Kansas, a suburb of Kansas City, the public school enrollment has jumped from 4,824 in 1942, to an expected 12,679 this year. Classes are being held in a church basement and in the partitioned section of a bowling alley.

But despite the population flow to the suburbs, schools in Kansas City proper are overcrowded. No new schools have been built in the city for the last 14 years.

A Chicago school official says "one of our big problems is to get the schools where the children are. The school plant is rigid, but the population is fluid, and people move away from existing schools to new suburbs."

Virtually all the cities in the STRANGE SEATS of learning for thousands of 1953 pupils . . .

NEA survey reported similar conditions.

The U. S. Office of Education reports that principal problems in school construction have been increased building costs and shortages of materials. Too, elementary schools are showing sharp enrollment increases due to high birth rates during and after World War II. And all this follows the period of the depression and World War II, when there was very little school building.

City suburbs have another problem all their own. Many of the outlying residential communities have no industries, and thus are deprived of an important source of tax revenue for schools. In big city areas, these are called bedroom communities.

Many of the schools now in existence are so old they are being condemned faster than new ones are built. The Office of Education says, on the basis of a 37-state survey, that 42 per cent of the schools are 30 years old or more and 17 per cent are over 50.

That puts one of every four pupils in a school more than 30 years old, and seven of every hundred in buildings more than 50 years old.

In addition to all these difficulties, the public has been demanding in recent years that classes be made smaller, which not only requires more school rooms but more teachers. This hasn't lessened a teacher shortage that in some parts of the country is critical.

In Chicago, more than eight per cent of the elementary school teachers and three per cent of the high school teachers are not fully qualified. Kansas City has had a "hard time" meeting teacher quotas.

New York reports teacher shortages only in vocational schools, where industry competes for personnel by paying more money. San Francisco, Dallas and Atlanta report no serious teacher shortages, due mostly to recent salary increases.

The matter of salary is probably the most serious affecting the teaching profession. The average salary for teachers last year was estimated at $3,530. That's below the average of all persons working for wages or salaries, below employees in manufacturing, and below civilian employees of the federal government.

As a male teacher in Kansas City put it: "My vacation job on a pipe line pays so much more than my regular teaching job that it's a real struggle to give it up in the fall in exchange for a teacher's salary."

At present it's estimated that 5,000 more teachers and 325,000 more classrooms are needed throughout the country. At the rate we're going, we'll need 93,000 teachers and 700,000 classrooms by 1960.

Whether we get the teachers depends a lot on what we're willing to pay them. Whether we ever get as many schools as we need seems doubtful.

School authorities in Atlanta see no end to the school shortage, despite the benefits to the city's schools of a $7 million state building project and a $13.5 million municipal bond issue.

In Greater Cleveland, 11 new schools costing $11 million will be ready this fall. But the shortage problem still exists.

In New York City, where one

ANTIQUATED, DANGEROUS buildings for nation's three R's.

No San Francisco children have been put on half-day shifts.

In Chicago, despite a $50 million building program, 12,500 grade school children will be on double shifts or a half-day basis this year, compared with 10,000 last year.

San Francisco is just winding up a five-year, $50 million building program, mostly for elementary schools, and is about to launch a similar one for high schools. But, as in many other cities, the picture in the suburbs is much grimmer.

the cities surveyed, appeared to have the least trouble with teacher shortages, and in the reason for it seems to lie the key to licking the problem. The salaries they pay are among the highest in the country, if not the highest. In addition, both cities have year-round teacher recruitment programs.

The whole problem of school and teacher shortages seems to boil down simply to the fact we get only what we pay for. And we're not paying enough.

Nab Ex-Convicts For, 12 Postal Thefts in State

QUINCY, Ill. (AP)—Three ex-convicts were seized Wednesday by police and post office inspectors for questioning about 12 post office robberies in Central and Southern Illinois.

They were charged with robbing the Clayton post office Dec. 30, 1953. They are Leonard Hibbs, 47, Thomas Maples, 37, and Harry Cannedy, 63, all of Quincy.

They waived preliminary hearings before U. S. Commissioner John T. Inghram. Maples' bond was set at $2,500. The other two were held on $5,000 each.

Post Office Inspector J. A. Thompson of Springfield said Hibbs and Maples said they burglarized 11 other Illinois post offices. The inspector said each robbery netted several hundred dollars.

He said robberies involved were at Clayton, Ursa, Hersman, West Point, Timewell, Denver, Little York, Rantzen, Sorento, Donnellson, Murrayville and Bourbon.

Double Take

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Traffic cops equipped with radar did a double take Wednesday.

First they stopped a man for speeding. He became nervous at the delay.

"What's your hurry?" Sgt. Wayne Lawson asked suspiciously. The motorist blushed. "My wife will be leaving home any minute now, and she'll come right by this spot. Frankly, I wanted to warn her."

At that moment, Lawson said, the radar picked up another speeder. It was the man's wife.

Find Boy's Body In Swimming Pool

HARRISBURG, Ill. (AP)—Life guards found the body of Wilbur Nennis, 15, of Eldorado, on the bottom of the Harrisburg swimming pool late Wednesday.

Pool officials ordered a search of the pool shortly after closing time when the youth's clothes were unclaimed at the pool locker room. A physician estimated Nennis had been dead about an hour before his body was found.

It costs about $1,480 to fly a small, young elephant from Bangkok to New York, at least 40 having already made the air trip.

Perfect Cast Saves Swimmer From Death

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—An exhausted swimmer who had just saved his two daughters from drowning was himself saved Wednesday by a fisherman who made a perfect cast from the beach.

Chester Fisher, 29, of Sarasota grabbed the line, wrapped it around his wrist just before losing consciousness, and the fisherman reeled him in to safety.

The fisherman got into his car and drove away before Fisher and others of his family could ask his name.

Fisher became exhausted as he and his wife saved two of their daughters, Joan, 8, and Christine, 7, after they were swept into deep water by the tide.

Names Are The Same

WASHINGTON (AP)—A check of payroll records today shows that 63 House members employ office workers with the same last name as their own.

The records show only the workers' names and salaries; not whether they are wives, brothers, sisters or children of the members or whether only a coincidence is involved.

Some representatives, however, make no secret of their employment of relatives. The practice of congressmen employing relatives is entirely legal and has been common for years.

Senate payroll records are not public.

The names and salaries of persons who bear the same names as their congressman bosses include: Illinois — William L. Dawson Jr., $643.70; Natalie M. Gordon, $411.36; Cecilia M. Gordon, $477.74.

Chicken Macaroni Salad Provides Full Meal Alone

ALMOST A MEAL IN ITSELF is this Chicken Macaroni Salad. Loaf which is served with sliced tomatoes and hot rolls.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

We stopped off at a white house, under elms near Amherst College, Mass. The luncheon was built around a delicious chicken salad loaf. There were sliced tomatoes, big country ones, hot rolls direct from the oven and for dessert, sliced peaches. We asked for the recipe. Hope you like it, too.

Chicken Macaroni Salad Loaf (6 generous servings)

One-quarter cup butter, 2 table-spoons minced onion, ¼ cup flour, 1½ cups milk, 1 chicken bouillon cube, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, 4 ounces process American cheese, diced, 2 cups cooked elbow macaroni, drained, 1½ cups finely diced cooked chicken, turkey or roast meat, 1 canned pimiento, diced.

Melt butter. Add onion and cook

1 minute. Stir in flour. Add milk, chicken bouillon cube, mustard and contents of can of mushrooms. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Add cheese and continue to stir until cheese is melted. Combine macaroni and chicken in large mixing bowl. Add diced pimiento. Pour in cheese sauce and mix thoroughly.

Place in well-greased loaf pan, 8 x 4 inches. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until lightly browned and done, about 40 minutes. Cool in pan, then refrigerate. When thoroughly cold, invert on cold serving platter. Garnish and serve, cutting loaf in slices like an ordinary meat loaf.

Permanent Cake

APPOMATTOX, Va. — It was quite an operation — getting this piece of cake to Mrs. John C. Moore. But eat it? Not on your life.

The 4 by 6 inch slice of fruit cake topped with lemon icing is something special. Here's how Mrs. Moore happened to get it: She received the cake from Mrs. Annie Truman of Beckley, W. Va., whose daughter married Mrs. Moore's son. Mrs. Truman has a sister who lives in London and her son is a member of the guard at Buckingham Palace.

And the cake is a slice of the one baked especially for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. Each guardsman was given a slice, and this particular guardsman's mother sent it to Mrs. Truman who sent it to Mrs. Moore.

Coughlin's Column

ALL GOOD BOXING and wrestling promoters know all that is required for a profitable show is to throw a villain into the ring. The women will flock from miles around to boo him and to plead for the hero to knock his block off.

I tested that time-worn theory on my wife last night. "DOROTHY," I SAID, as I shuffled into the kitchen, "I suppose you know that that upstanding exponent of the ring arts, 'Kid' Gavilan, is fighting tonight?"

Mrs. C. bristled and replied, "Who?"

"KID GAVILAN is fighting tonight, dear," I repeated.

"Is that the guy with the plastered-down hair and the snarl?" she inquired anxiously.

"HE'S ONLY the welterweight champion of the world," I said.

"He's meeting a pretty good guy by the name of 'Tiger' Jones."

Then I added, just for bait, "This Gavilan is the two-to-one favorite to polish off the Tiger."

"Well," Mrs. C. sniffed, "I don't know much about 'Tiger' Jones but I just hope he tears that Kid to bits. By the way does Jones have anything on the ball?"

"HE'S UNBEATEN in his last seven fights and holds two wins over Danny (Bang Bang) Womber, who scored an upset over the Kid last May," I replied, neatly quoting from the evening sports page.

"Good! I hope he plasters that dirty Gavilan."

SCARCELY HAD THE COMMERCIAL been poured, when Mrs. C. was perched belligerently on the sofa a beagle eye fixed on the TV screen.

When the camera flashed to Gavilan's corner, Mrs. C. said scornfully, "Look at him! Look at him! Brother, I hope this guy 'Tiger' gives it to you good!"

HER BOY JONES made a go of it for a few rounds and got full support from my helpmeet.

THEN WHEN THE KID switched to a stay-away, boxing style, Mrs. C. let forth a midgest-sneal of derision.

"Get in there and fight, you coward!"

I EXPLAINED during rounds that Mr. Gavilan was no mean strategist and was merely deploying to outfox Mr. Jones.

The ensuing rounds proved that theory but my wife stoutly held out for the Tiger until the end. She booed the decision with fiery gusto and departed for the bedroom.

"BOY, WHAT a dirty fighter!" was her final comment.

Mrs. C., no boxing fan, will exhibit a fine disregard for the Wednesday night matches—well, until Mr. Gavilan fights again.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

The Fish Game

By AL MCCLANE

Long-shanked hooks nearly always are used in bucktails and streamers, but I question whether they have any advantage.

I believe more fish get off a long-shanked hook, and the bucktail or streamer feathers get caught in the bend more often than they do with a hook of normal length. I prefer both streamers and bucktails on hooks with shanks of normal length or not more than 2X long at most.

The only advantage a long-shanked hook has in bait fishing is that it is easier to get out of a fish's mouth or throat. Frequently when a fish swallows the bait, you can reach the shank of a carlinish hook when you couldn't reach a hook with a shorter shank, such as a Kirby.

For heavy fish that fight hard, I believe hooks of normal or short-length shank are better. The weight of the hook is not so important in a bass fly or bug because both are much larger than trout flies. Ideally bass wet flies, streamers, and dry flies should be tied on heavy hooks that would help them to sink quickly, and bugs should be tied on light hooks.

There is so much more material in a bug to float the hook that it will support one much heavier than you could use for a trout fly. Bass dry flies in the conventional dry-fly style, however, should always be tied on light hooks. In this case, the weight of the hook is floated by the hackles and a heavy hook would sink the fly.

Hook sizes for bait fishing present somewhat of a problem to the beginner. Here are a few suggestions which might help him:

For panfish, hook sizes 4 to 6 are usually preferred, except for small baits, and then an 8 or 10 may be better. For trout, sizes 4, 6 or 8 usually are used. A No. 1 or 2 is about right for bass, while hooks ranging from 1/0 to 2 are used for walleyes. Northern pike and muskies are generally caught on hooks ranging from 3/0 to 1 in size.

Eyed hooks are better for bait fishing than the snelled variety. Not only is there no highly visible double knot where the snell is attached to the leader, but there is no danger of a frayed or rotten snell causing the loss of a good fish. Eyed hooks should be attached to the tippet with a Turk knot, a jam knot, or the twist knot, if the leader is nylon.

Gavilan Boomed --But He Wins Thumps 'Tiger' Jones In 10-Round Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—Although he weighed a hefty 154 pounds in scoring a warmup victory over middleweight Ralph Jones, Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan said today he doesn't expect to have any trouble making the 147-pound limit Sept. 18.

That's when the Cuban Flash defends his welter crown against Carmen Basilio in Syracuse, N. Y. "Me make it easy," he said. "After I beat Jones I finish weighing 147 pounds."

Sluggish at first The champ seemed somewhat sluggish through the first three rounds of his 10-rounder with the Yonkers, N. Y., Negro but he gave the pro-Jones crowd a dazzling exhibition the rest of the way to earn the unanimous decision in Madison Square Garden.

Gavilan, who outweighed the middleweight by two pounds, switched to boxing in the fourth, jabbing and circling — although the fans booed. Late in the fight he handed the Westchester Tiger a good thumping with solid smashes.

Jones Hurt Thumb Jones said he hurt his right thumb in the sixth and had to stop pressing. Dr. Vincent Nardelle said the thumb was dislocated and possibly fractured.

"The fans they funny," said Gavilan. "I fight hard to please them and they cheer Jones and boo me anyway. So I say I'll make sure I win. I box. They boo. I don't care no more. I want to win."

The votes, all favoring Gavilan, were: Referee Al Berl, 5-1; Judge Arthur Susskind, 6-4; and Judge Jack Gordon, 7-3. The AP scorecard had Gavilan in front 6-3-1.

Free-for-All TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A pitcher was knocked cold and another player received a shiner in a brawl during a Western Association baseball game here Wednesday night.

Topeka centerfielder Ronald Alexander, irked over some close balls thrown by Roger Pister, tangled with the St. Joseph, Mo., pitcher and that started a free-for-all.

Another St. Joseph pitcher, Ed Donnelly, had to be carried from the field. Alexander's eyes were blackened.

Topeka won the game, 5-4.

Illinois Trotter Shoots at Record WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—Pronto Don, 8-year-old gelding from the Hayes Fair Acres Stable at Du Quoin, Ill., will take a shot at the world record of 2:37.2 for the mile and one quarter Thursday night in the invitational $25,000 American trotting championship at Roosevelt Raceway.

Pronto Don, the world's leading money winning trotter, will be opposed by nine other speedsters in the Roosevelt feature.

East Whips West, 22-13, In Prep Tilt

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The East, behind 13-2 late in the third period, paired a break and a sparkling run by little Johnny Black of Drew, Miss., to crush the West 22-13 in the annual All-America high school football game Wednesday.

For nearly three quarters the West had dominated the game, mainly on the one-two punch of quarterback Ronnie Knox of Santa Monica, Calif., and fullback Jack Throckmorton of LaMarque, Tex.

Black, who had fumbled away six points earlier in the game, scooted nearly 50 yards down the side line to set up the first East touchdown.

Then West safetyman Charles McCue of Lawrence, Kan., fumbled an East kick on his yard line and Birmingham end Dan Coyle scooped up the ball and stepped over for a touchdown to push the East out in front 15-13.

The East added another touchdown when Cothren intercepted a desperation West pass and raced to the West four, then plunged over two plays later.

Queen Hopeful Wins Princess Pat, $68,320 CHICAGO (AP)—Hasty House Farm's brilliant Queen Hopeful completed Wednesday a grand slam of summer racing for 2-year-olds by winning the $107,490 Princess Pat Stakes at Washington Park.

The dark bay champion picked up $68,320 for Mr. and Mrs. Albie E. Reuben of Toledo, Ohio, to boost her 1953 earnings in 10 starts to $185,423.

Queen Hopeful, ridden by Jockey Johnny Adams, stepped the six furlongs in 1:11, two seconds off the track record. Rex Ellsworth's Chorus Khal was second and Darby Dan Farm's Clear Dawn was third. The winner returned $7.80, $4.20 and $2.60.

Queen Hopeful is the fourth filly to win both the Arlington Lassie and the Princess Pat Stakes.

Winnetka Wins First Game in Legion Tourney BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—Winnetka, Ill., will attempt to clinch the Midwest American Legion's Junior Baseball championship tonight in a game against the Topeka, Kan., Juniors.

Winnetka opened the best two-out-of-three double elimination series Wednesday night with an 11-4 decision over Topeka. If a third game is necessary, it also will be played tonight.

Wednesday night's victory was Winnetka's 26th straight. Mike Layden, son of former Notre Dame coach Elmer Layden, held the Kansasans to seven hits to gain the decision. The winners clubbed two Topeka hurlers for 29 batters, including five by Charlie Sellinger in six trips to the plate.

Fl. Wayne Meets Detroit in Top Amateur Game ALTOONA, Pa. (AP)—Fort Wayne, Ind., and Detroit, both boasting 2 records, paired off today in a feature game of the 10th annual National Amateur Baseball Federation tournament.

Detroit defeated Altoona, 7-5, as the tournament opened Wednesday then beat Pittsburgh 7-3 in the second round. Fort Wayne took a 3-1 decision from Dayton, Ohio, 7-5.

Other third round pairings today (records in parentheses): Altoona (1-1) vs. Springfield (1-1); Pittsburgh (1-1) vs. Youngstown (1-1). Dearborn (2-0) drew a bye.

Worsham Signs For Exhibitions CHICAGO (AP)—Low Worsham, the PGA's current top prize money winner with $32,007, has signed a $35,000 golf exhibition contract with promoter George S. May.

Worsham won $25,000 with a 140-foot eagle wedge shot to win May's 1953 "world championship" at Tam O'Shanter Aug. 9.

May said Worsham's exhibition contract for one year guarantees the Oakland, Pa., professional 35 exhibitions at $1,000 each, plus expenses.

Decide Singles Title on Sunday Dr. Mason to Meet Bill Gorham for Men's Award

The men's singles tennis title will be decided at 2 p.m. Sunday on the South Side courts with Dr. Ted Mason meeting Bill Gorham. Both cleared their quarter-final and semi-final rounds yesterday in grueling matches.

Meanwhile the Evening Telegraph city tournament classic was nearing the final round on another front—the men's doubles. George Covert and Dr. Ted Mason advanced to that round by whipping Jim Boedeker and Jack Kurzrock 6-4, 6-2, after the latter had downed the Jack Hipple-Jim Schwitters duo, 6-0, 6-2, in the quarterfinals.

The men's singles produced some sparkling matches. Quarter-final results show Mason whipping Jack Hipple, 6-4, 6-1; Henry Utley beating Jim Boedeker, 6-3, 6-2; Bill Gorham defeating Jack Kurzrock, 1-6, 6-4, 6-2; and Floyd Acker downing Joe Cushing, 6-2, 7-5.

The semi-finals saw Mason pressed to the utmost in conquering Utley, 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 and Bill Gorham providing the upset by defeating Floyd Acker, 7-5, 2-6, and 6-2.

Here were the results of the quarterfinal matches in the men's doubles:

Boedeker - Kurzrock defeated Hipple-Schwitters, 6-0, 6-2. Gorham-Utley downed Sage-Lindell, 6-1, 6-3. Acker-Cushing defeated Nelles-Bay, 6-0, 6-1.

Gorham-Utley will meet Acker-Cushing for the right to meet Covert-Mason in the cup finals. The semi-final match will be played this morning.

Fl. Leonard Wood Wins, 8-1, Advances In Non-Pro Meet

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Unbeaten Fl. Leonard Wood, Mo., scored all its runs on homers Wednesday night in defeating the Washington Military District Colonials, 8-1. The Missourians pushed into the fifth round of the National Non-Pro baseball tournament.

The Colonials, who beat the Missouri Soldiers for the national title last year, got only four hits off Dick Black.

The Boeing Bombers from Wichita, Kan., broke a 1-1 deadlock in year-old Carl H. Ernst Jr. shot an to score a 4-1 victory over the Casa Grande Apoc from Arizona.

The third game saw the Syracuse, N. Y., Falcons absorb a 13-0 trimming from the Peoria, Ill., Le Tourneaus. The Peorians started with a four-run first frame, got eight in the second, added another in the third and allowed Syracuse only three hits. Bob Kluse hit a home run in the first.

The game was called under the 12-run lead rule after the sixth inning. Syracuse was knocked out of the double elimination tournament.

Officials had to post "default" opposite Bobby's name in all three groups.

Reason: Chickenpox.

Trucks Goes Against Red Sox; Ex-Mates Jolt Chicago Hopes

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox—with 29 games left on their 1953 schedule—open a series against the fourth-place Boston Red Sox in Comiskey park tonight with the Chicagoans' immediate aim the retention of second place.

Wednesday's 10-8 loss to the Philadelphia Athletics in the series' finale practically eliminated any hopes the runnerup White Sox may have had of catching the pace-setting Yankees who now lead the American League pack by 10½ games. Indeed, Paul Richards' Sox now find themselves only 1½ games ahead of third-place Cleveland and 6½ ahead of the Red Sox.

Trucks to Start Richards planned to send Virgil Trucks 17-6 after his 15th pitching triumph tonight against Boston's Sid Hudson (5-8). Meanwhile the Chicago Cubs, who trounced the Brooklyn Dodgers, 13-1 in their Flatbush fair Wednesday selected Johnny Klippstein (8-10) to oppose Brooklyn Russ Meyer (13-5) in a day game.

Hal Jeffcoat slapped home runs in the first two appearances at the plate in Brooklyn to lead the Cubs to their smashing win over the Dodgers. It gave the Cubs a 2-1 lead in the series in Ebbets Field. The visitors had not won in Brooklyn this year prior to Bob Rush's triumph in the first game of Tuesday's double-header.

Lawn Wins Omar Lawn, Chicago's replacement for Bubba Church who was knocked out in the fifth, was the winning pitcher. The Cubs thumped four Brooklyn hurlers for 15 hits, including a homer by Bill Serena, his ninth of the season.

The White Sox alumni had a big hand in Philadelphia's triumph over the sagging Sox. Former Soxman Dave Philley clouted a home run and a pair of triples, while Eddie Robinson came through with his 20th home of the season.

Alex Kellner stumbled through to his 11th triumph of the season against a dozen defeats, although he had to have help from Morris Martin and Charlie Bishop. The loser, Mike Fornieles, was knocked out in the fourth inning. He was followed by Harry Dorish, Luis Aloma and Gene Bearden.

Richards Protects The game was played under protest, as Manager Paul Richards objected to a ruling on one of Philley's triples.

Ferris Rain replaced Bob Boyd at first base for the Sox in the ninth. It was Fain's first appearance in a game since he broke his left hand in a restaurant brawl in Maryland, Aug. 2.

Joliet Defeated In Little League WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Joliet, Ill., was eliminated Wednesday from the 7th annual Little League baseball world series tournament by Birmingham, Ala., 6-1.

Joliet walked Birmingham, 4-3, but 13 walks issued by Joliet pitchers proved the decisive factor. First baseman Doug Spesia scored Joliet's only run on a homer with two out in the sixth and last inning.

Line scores: Joliet 000 001—1 4 2 Birmingham 002 13x—6 5 2

Fisherman's Luck! BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Twelve-year-old Carl H. Ernst Jr. shot an arrow at a cardboard box in a field in suburban Williamsport Wednesday. The arrow came down in a creek and speared a small rock bass.

Hook sizes for bait fishing present somewhat of a problem to the beginner. Here are a few suggestions which might help him:

For panfish, hook sizes 4 to 6 are usually preferred, except for small baits, and then an 8 or 10 may be better. For trout, sizes 4, 6 or 8 usually are used. A No. 1 or 2 is about right for bass, while hooks ranging from 1/0 to 2 are used for walleyes. Northern pike and muskies are generally caught on hooks ranging from 3/0 to 1 in size.

Eyed hooks are better for bait fishing than the snelled variety. Not only is there no highly visible double knot where the snell is attached to the leader, but there is no danger of a frayed or rotten snell causing the loss of a good fish. Eyed hooks should be attached to the tippet with a Turk knot, a jam knot, or the twist knot, if the leader is nylon.

'Dusty' Rhodes Hits 3 Homers Sub for Irwin Whiffs In Try for the Fourth

By JOE REICHLER NEW YORK (AP)—Quick now, who is the only major league player to hit three home runs in one game this season?

Eddie Mathews? Mickey Mantle? Ralph Kiner? Stan Musial? Al Rosen? Gus Zernial? Roy Campanella? Nope. Guess again.

Give up? Okay, his name is Jim Rhodes, better known as Dusty Rhodes. Never heard of him? That's not surprising. He's hardly played in enough games to merit a line in the batting averages.

Helps Giants But Wednesday, in three consecutive times at bat, Rhodes slammed three home runs to drive in five runs and lead the New York Giants to a 13-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rhodes had an opportunity to equal the record of four homers in one game when he came to bat with two out in the eighth inning. But the southpaw swanning utility outfielder missed a third strike thrown by lefthander Alpha Blazie.

"He threw me a curve," Rhodes complained later. "That so-and-so. Imagine him curving me on a 3-2 pitch?"

Rhodes came up to the Giants in the summer of 1952 and immediately hit eight home runs in 11 games.

Find Weakness But it didn't take long for the pitchers to discover his weakness. Inside of two months his batting average had shrunk from .109 to an anemic .250. He hit only two more homers in his next 36 games.

With Monte Irvin recovered from his broken ankle, Rhodes played only occasionally this year as a pinch hitter or emergency runner.

On August 1, he was hitting .154 based on four hits in 26 times at bat.

Rhodes got his long-awaited chance when Irvin re-injured his ankle. He has six homers in 18 games and a 40-point boost in his average.

Attorney General Vows to Act in County Gambling

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Latham Castle Wednesday warned Madison County officials that if they don't put a stop to gambling in the county the state will take action.

In a letter to State's Atty. Fred P. Schuman, Castle said both he and Gov. Stratton had received reports that gambling was flourishing in Madison County, particularly at the Prevue Club.

"This must be stopped immediately," Castle said. "In the event that you are unable to accomplish this, it will be necessary for me to take some action and see that it is stopped."

A copy of the letter was sent to Sheriff James T. Callahan.

Empty Apartments

RIO DE JANEIRO — (AP) — The new American embassy office building in Rio de Janeiro has eight lovely apartments which apparently aren't going to see much use—thanks to red tape. The eight apartments occupy two upper floors of the 12-story, $2,800,000 building, which was opened for use in April. They were intended to be used by newcomers who were looking for apartments of their own, or by touring guests or diplomats.

But soon after the opening, a ruling came down from somewhere about the use of the apartments. For "security" reasons, couples with children would not be allowed to use them—only single persons or childless couples.

So about the only occupants of the apartments, aside from an occasional visitor, have been a few newly-arrived secretaries. The story goes that they would prefer a hotel near one of Rio's famous beaches.

Stocks (and Dividends) On Installment Plan May Make Lots of Capitalists on Easy Terms

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEW YORK — For a small monthly payment, you may soon be able to buy some American industry.

That grand old custom — easy terms — is about to invade the stock market. As of Oct. 1 or thereabouts, it'll be as easy to buy a share of common stock as it is to buy a home freezer, television set or diamond ring. Easier, in fact, because there'll be no down payment.

The installment plan is the latest in the New York Stock Exchange's bid for more stock buying by people who aren't rich executives. The Exchange, and particularly its president, Keith Funston, want to get the middle class into the stock buying habit. Add they figure that this is one good way. It's all still tentative, of course, but details are being worked out.

Basically, it's the same idea as the World War II plan for buying war bonds. You don't sign a contract or anything. You can stop any time. You must pay cash; no credit.

You first decide how much you can pay, rather than how much you want to buy. You might, for example, figure that you can lay out $50 a month for stocks. (Incidentally, $40 or $50 will probably so your regular payment buys 114 shares.

Or you can split your investment, and put $25 of your monthly $50 into AmalHorsrdsh and the other $25 into Consolidated Mixed Pickles. The first time that your payment account for one full share of stock, you get a certificate, similar to stock certificates ordinary buyers get.

Dividend payments would be distributed on the same fractional basis as your purchases. If you owned 1 1/4 shares of ConMixPick at the time a $1 per share dividend was declared, you'd get a check for $1.25.

The Stock Exchange, except for promoting the idea and serving as a clearing house, has little to do with the actual operation. It sells no stock to individuals. You have to deal through a broker or a bank.

Since stock brokers have to make a living, too, the usual method of commissions, paid by the purchaser, will continue, with slight modifications. Each of your monthly payments will have 6 per cent deducted for the broker's cut.

In case you think that this plan is identical with that offered by the home appliance stores, be advised there is one big difference. The Stock Exchange offers no free home trial.

Every month you get as many shares, or fractions thereof, as your $50 will buy at the moment. One month, AmalHorsrdsh may be selling for $60 a share, so your investment will buy only 5/6 of a share that month. Another month, perhaps the stock is selling for $10, be the minimum.) You go to a broker or bank, and work out your plan. Suppose you and the broker decide that Amalgamated Houseadish would be a good company to invest in. Every month, then, you buy $50 worth of their shares.

Norwegian Emigrants
OSLO — (U) — Norwegian emigration to foreign countries set a new post-war record in 1952 with nearly one out of every 1,000 Norwegians setting abroad, police records showed here.

Emigrants included 1,555 men and 1,423 women. Nearly two thirds of the total, or 1,968 persons settled in the United States, while 806 Norwegians found new homes in Canada.

Frozen Lemon Pie Is Good Dessert After Heavy Meal

FROZEN LEMON PIE shown here is one of those desserts which can be served after a heavy meal. It's light and delicious.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Lemons from Southern California and Cereal from the great plains combine into a delicate and unusual dessert. Perfect after a heavy meal.

Frozen Lemon Pie
(Makes 8 servings.)
One cup finely crushed cereal nuts, 1/2 cup butter, melted, 2 egg yolks, 1/4 cup sugar, dash of salt, 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1/4 cup water, 1/4 cup nonfat dry milk, 2 egg whites, 1/4 cup sugar.

Combine crushed cereal and butter, mixing well. Reserve 1/4 cup of the mixture. Press remaining mixture firmly on bottom and sides of freezing tray of automatic refrigerator.

Combine egg yolks and 1/4 cup sugar in double boiler, mixing thoroughly. Add salt, lemon rind, and 3 tablespoons lemon juice; mix well. Cook and stir over boiling water until mixture is slightly thickened. (Takes about 5 minutes.) Cool.

Pour water and remaining tablespoon of lemon juice into deep 1-quart bowl. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk powder over surface of the liquid. Beat with egg beater or mixer until stiff, about 10 minutes. Fold cooled mixture into the whipped nonfat dry milk. Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add 1/4 cup sugar gradually and continue beating until stiff peaks will form. Fold in nonfat dry milk mixture and pour into cereal-lined freezing tray. Sprinkle reserved cereal over top. Set control for coldest freezing temperature, and freeze until firm, about 3 hours. Cut in wedges to serve.

Pineapple Rice Pudding
(1 serving)
One-half cup pre-cooked rice, 1 flat can crushed pineapple (1 cup, undrained), 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup nonfat dry milk, 1 cup water, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup raisins, dash of nutmeg.

Place rice and undrained pineapple in saucepan. Stir in salt and nonfat dry milk powder. Add water and mix well. Place over low heat and bring just to the boiling point. Lower heat and let simmer for 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in butter, vanilla and raisins. Cover and let stand 10 minutes. Serve hot or cold topped with a sprinkling of nutmeg.

Pork is the most popular meat in the American diet, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Changed Sheep
HELENA, Mont. (U) — Montana transplanted a wild bighorn mountain ram with curious results. The ram and 15 other bighorn sheep were planted on an Eastern Montana ranch with a view to restoring the breed in that region.

The ram associated with a group of domestic sheep with these consequences:

A Jordan rancher wondered what 11 wool-less lambs in his herd would bring on the market. Sportsmen wondered if this could be the start of a new game species. And Montana state biologists planned to learn if the hybrid offspring would be sterile.

Weighty 'Supers'
BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (U) — Kern county supervisors boast that they carry more weight than any other five-man board in California.

The average 250.8 pounds. Vance Webb of Taft is the biggest supervisor, 6-4 and weighing 272. Charles Salzer of Bakersfield is the "baby" at only 205.

Incidentally, Kern county is California's leading potato producing area.

Dior New-Length Provokes Confusion, Opinion Clashes

PARIS (U) — In the confusion and clash of opinion over fashionable skirt lengths caused by the "Dior revolution," only one thing is certain: They won't be any longer.

In photographs of the new models presented by Paris fashion houses for fall and winter, the women can see today what is happening.

Christian Dior, still the champion attention-getter, lifted hemlines several inches.

Going along with Dior for shorter skirts (actually each must have thought of the idea independently since they keep their designs secret until the shows) were Desses, Faeh, Lanvin and Maggy Rouff. But none of these dared go as high as Dior.

Defend Old Length
Clinging to the old length and defending it as more flattering to most women were Balmain, Balenciaga, Heim, Griffe, Patou and Givenchy. Only Schiaparelli actually lengthened skirts—just a shade.

Two general trends in silhouettes were developed in the latest showing: (1) Wide shoulders and narrow skirts and (2) a princess or redingote line with fitted bodice, waist and hips, and flaring skirt.

Of the American buyers, Sidney Gittner of Macy's plumped enthusiastically for the Dior short skirts and bought generously of them, saying:

"It's a real fashion revolution. Short skirts will be adopted in America by spring at the latest."

All Comment
Mme. Odette Tedesco and Stella Hanania, buyers for I. Magnin of San Francisco, on the other hand, commented:

"We never pick freaks just because they're new."
Hattie Carnegie said frankly: "I don't know whether American women will take to shorter skirts."

Hanah Troy of Hanah Troy, Inc., New York, was anti-short skirts. She said:

"They're uncomplimentary. I was quite surprised and disappointed by the Dior length, but, of course, we'll all buy. We have to."

But Dior claims a new cycle of fashions for women is launched every seven years. His sensational "New Look" exploded on the women's clothing trade in 1947.

For the doubtful, there is the constant reminder that Dior never yet has presented an unsuccessful line.

It is said that the first commercial electric sign was put up on a New York theater in 1894.

Marine Sees War Twice, Says End Not Satisfactory

By BELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (U) — Capt. Bem Price, of the U. S. Marines, walked into the office the other day, fresh from Korea.

Naturally, I asked, "what do your guys think of the armistice?" "Not much," said Bem. "They're not satisfied to have it end this way."

He went on to say that the war could have been carried to a complete military decision—in our favor.

Served Twice
Coming from a Marine, of course, any other report would have been a surprise. But there is more to it than the insignia on his cap. Price had the unusual experience of serving in Korea twice, in two totally different roles.

On his first hitch, he was a correspondent. He came over early in that hot summer of 1950, covered the retreat and then the siege on the line laid down by Gen. Walker. After the North Koreans collapsed, and the war disintegrated into a pursuit and mop-up, Bem came home.

He had been in the Marines in the second World War, however. So, a year or so ago, Uncle Sam called him and presently he was on his way back out to the old stamping ground, this time in uniform.

Many Angles
In short, he has seen the war from more different angles than most of us ever could.

"What we should have done," he went on, "is smash up the Chinese defenses, and then destroy their armies in Korea."

The Chinese have boasted of their depth-defenses, presumably a system of bunkers, trenches and emplacements going back four or five miles, solidly.

"We didn't think much of the depth defenses," he said. "Every time we punched through the outer crust, they would react quickly and pretty well. But it didn't look to us as though they had the means of moving troops and material around quickly enough to seal off a real breakthrough."

"Then why didn't we open a real offensive?" I asked Bem.

"I don't know," he said. "Nobody could make sense out of it. We would take one of their positions, and then pull back — on orders."

Losing Game
He said the Marine officers reasoned that they were losing more men in the stationary war that finally developed than would have been lost in an all-out push.

"Which officers," I asked. "The Big Brass?"

"All of them," he said. "Any second lieutenant would tell you we should have been pushing instead of sitting there."

These ideas are not confined to the Marine Corps. A good many regular Army officers feel the same way.

History, alone, will show whether signing that armistice at this time was the right course to take.

Golf Knights

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (U) — Across the Biltmore Forest Country club's golf course, deputy sheriffs trailed the hoof marks of horses. Upon the greens they found the turf rent by iron shoes. From a nearby pond they fished up the bridle. In shrubbery they discovered hidden saddles. The tracks led back to the Biltmore Forest Stables, where doors stood ajar.

Deputies finally ferreted the facts: Two young knights of 1953, unencumbered by warriors' mail, plumes or swords, had swiped the animals, charged across the course and jostled in the starlight, using flagstaffs of the green markers as their lances.

Fewer Marriages

CANBERRA (U) — Fewer Australians married in 1952, but government statistics show they married younger. Last year there were 74,172 marriages, the lowest total for three years. But the average age of bridegrooms was 25.74 years, and that of brides 25.61, compared with 28.92 and 25.71 in 1951.

Two hundred and six girls of 15 years and under married last year, including one girl of 13. The boys were more cautious. They waited until they were 16 at least.
